Scranton Says Only Genuine Draft Could Woo Him As VP

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania said Thursday he would turn down any Republican presidential candidate who asked him to accept the vice presidential nomination unless it was accompanied by a genuine draft of convention delegates.

Scranton's weekly meeting with newsmen attracted a large number of reporters anticipating a possible change in his position regarding the Republican nomination following Sen. Barry Goldwater's victory in California.

"There is no change," Scranton said.

He is still open to an honest and sincere draft for either the presidential or vice presidential nominations, but that he would not consider any movement a draft if it were manipulated. It "must come from the grass roots and from the delegates themselves and not just a couple of bosses."

The governor made these points:

—Goldwater appears to be the likely Republican nominee after his victory in California, but that he has not cinched it.

—Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, who lost to Goldwater in California, "Has not been removed from serious consideration."

—He will "not be a part and parcel of any movement against anyone for the presidency and that I will support whoever is the nominee."

Much of the half-hour conference centered on the vice presidency because of Republican National Chairman William Miller's recent comment that Scranton would be a good choice for the second spot.

"I am complimented by Bill's remarks," Scranton said, "but I have said many times I would only be interested in the vice presidency or the presidency if there is a real draft and I did not expect same."

Continuing in the same vein, Scranton said:

"I have said that if the nominee decided that he wanted to have a person and came to me and said, 'I was the person,' no I would not accept."

Scranton reminded reporters that the presidential nominee usually picks his own running mate, but he pointed out that Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee in 1956, threw the choice to the convention floor.

Asked if he thought such an "open choice' tactic at the GOP convention in San Francisco July 13 would constitute a draft, Scranton said:

"I would think this might be. Yes, if not manipulated in some way."

Coy on Draft

A reporter, pressing the point, asked:

"If the presidential nominee wanted you as the number two man, and he passed that word on to the convention delegates, would that be in the nature of a draft?

"No, I don't think so, because that would be the nominee's choice."

Scranton said he was "in no position" to analyze Goldwater's California victory, but he added:

"I did make a statement before California that if Sen. Goldwater won, it would be more likely that he would be the nominee. I think this is true.'

The governor said he was not surprised by the California result "because I said it would be very close." He congratulated both men for an "outstanding piece of campaigning." They deserve a lot of credit, he added.

Asked specifically if he would run with Goldwater, Scranton said "only under a sincere and honest draft."

He said Goldwater's people have not contacted him about the vice presidency.

Scranton said he does not know of "any extremely basic difference" between his views and those of goldwater, adding:

"Both of us believe in a strong foreign policy. We both believe in governmental levels of action being as strong as possible on the local level, then on the state, and last on the federal.

"We might differ, and I am sure we do, on various methods of implementing those two general theses."

Scranton said he felt complimented that two Chicago newspapers endorsed him for the presidential nomination, but he added he does not consider their draft.

He said he supported the right of John G. Pew Jr., vice chairman of the eastern Pennsylvania Goldwater organization, to collect 250,000 signatures in this state.

Blank Space Vote Decision

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Judge Vincent A. Carroll Thursday took under advisement the question of whether "blank space" votes cast here in the April 28 Democratic primary should be counted. He said he would probably announce his decision Monday.

Whatever his decision, said Judge Carroll, he was aware the case would be appealed immediately to the state Supreme Court. He said he wanted time to write a memorandum of the case for that purpose.

Nixon Won't Stop Barry

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Thursday night he would not take part in any stop-Goldwater coalition if one were set up to keep the Arizona senator from obtaining the Republican presidential nomination.

Nixon said he had made "no deal" with Goldwater and was "not going to endorse any candidate." But he added that if any move to stop Goldwater develops "I would certainly not become a party to it and I would instruct my aides not to join it."

Boy Beats Gals In Rope-Jumping

Liberals Get LBJ 'Go-Ahead'

NEW YORK (AP)—The Liberal party chairman said Thursday President Johnson had given the party a "go ahead" to begin campaigning for his election.

Johnson, although generally expected to seek four more years in the White House, has made no public declaration of his candidacy.

In Washington, however, George Reedy, White House news secretary, said "I am confident the President has not signaled the start of the campaign."

Market Takes Sharp Drop

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market Thursday was thrown for its worst loss of the current year—its sharpest since the panic selling Nov. 22, the day President Kennedy was assassinated.

The decline, however, was less than half that of Nov. 22 and the volume of 4.88 million shares was below average for 1964. It compared with Wednesday's 3.99 million, the year's smallest.

The Dow industrials fell 9.31 to 802.48, the steepest drop since the plunge of 21.16 on the tragic Friday last November.

The news seemed just as good as it has been during the recent weeks of listless trading on the New York Stock Exchange. Investors and traders were described as "bored with good news."

Fun-Loving, Over-Eating Roseto's Hearts Admired

CHICAGO (AP) — Is finding happiness a powerful secret weapon for avoiding heart attacks?

A seven-year medical study conducted in the happy and healthy little Italian-American community of Roseto, Pa., suggests it may be.

In Roseto, 95 per cent of residents are first, second or third generation Italians who have maintained many of their original Italian customs.

The community is essentially a one-class, unpretentious society made up of simple, warm and very hospitable people.

The "vigorous and fun-loving" residents eat and drink as much as they like and many are overweight.

But despite their generous consumption of calories, animal fats and wine—indulgences that have been cited by some medical investigators as a possible cause of heart disease — their death rate from myocardial infarcation (heart attacks) is strikingly low.

Bangor's Rate

Their heart death rate is only about one-fourth as high as in the adjoining community of Bangor. Substantially the same physicians care for the population of both towns and use the same neighboring hospitals.

However, the researchers who made exhaustive studies of the eating habits and social behavior of Roseto's residents drew no final conclusions pending further study of the data accumulated.

Their report, published in the Journal of the American Medical Association, said:

"The most striking feature of Roseto (population 1,630) was the way in which people seemed to enjoy life . . .

"Whether or not their sensible way of life contributed to their good health is still to be determined.

"Genetic and ethnic factors may be important, although it is noteworthy that deaths from myocardial infarcation at relatively young ages have been documented in men born in Roseto but who lived most of their lives elsewhere in Pennsylvania or in neighboring New York or New Jersey.'

No Heart Fatalities

No man or woman under the age of 47 died from a heart attack in Roseto during the study period from 1955 through 1961.

The study of heart disease in Roseto and four surrounding towns was made by Drs. Clarke Stout, Jerry Morrow, Edward N. Brandt Jr., and Stewart Wolfe, Oklahoma City.

The study showed:

The death rate per 100,000 population per year from heart attacks in Roseto was 91 for men and 66 for women. This compared with 369 for men and 244 for women in Bangor, whose 5,766 population is a mixture of several ethnic types.

Stroudsburg Compared

In predominately German Nazareth, Pa., population 5,766, the heart attack death rate was 406 for men and 197 for women. In Stroudsburg, Pa., whose 6,070 population is a mixure of ethnic groups, the rate was 439 for men and 132 for women. In East Stroudsburg, whose 7,674 population is a mixture of ethnic groups, the rate was 311 for men and 94 for women.

Tougher Tongue Twisters No Match For New Champ

WASHINGTON (AP) — William Kerek, a stocky, poised 12-year-old from Ohio, mastered some of the toughest tongue-twisters in the dictionary Thursday to win the 37th annual National Spelling Bee.

Kerek and semifinalist Robert O. Mathews, another Ohioan, battled it out through 20 words such as "nepenthe" and "peristalsis" before Kerek won the $1,000 first prize on "geophagy" and "sycophant."

Mathews shook hands and posed for a picture with the winner, then walked to the sidelines and wept briefly on the shoulder of his father.

Kerek, a 7th grader from Cuyahoga Falls, won a weekend trip to the New York World's Fair and an appearance on the Ed Sullivan television show in addition to the prize money and and a gold cup.

Mathews, 13, an 8th grader from Gahanna won $500 second money. The other 68 contestants received prize money ranging from $50 to $250.

The windup was unusual on two counts—it came quickly and boys dominated the final round.

Of the 29 champions and co-champions crowned since the national bee was started in 1925, the count up to this year was 24 girls and 15 boys. This year's field included 44 girls and 26 boys.

Kerek showed little sign of nervousness through the 30-round, two-day contest, but had told his father shortly before his victory: "I've juust got to make it today because I don't want to go through it all again."

Young Kerek's victory was a triumph also for his teacher and coach, Estella Swearengin of Bolich Junior High School in Cuyahoga Falls, who had escorted four previous national contestants here but never had a winner before.

"I just can't believe it," said the teacher, who had helped Kerek study for nearly two hours every day for three months.

"Wonderful" was the reaction natural speller but he had to study the hard words and he stuck to it."

In the final rounds, Kerek correctly spelled "nepenthe" a potion, after Mathews had missed it, but then stumbled on "peristalsis," intestinal contractions

Mathews got it correctly but misspelled "geophagy," the eating of dirt, giving Kerek another chance. Kerek got it right, then rattled off "sycophant"for the clincher.

Moscow Resigned To Peking Split

MOSCOW (AP)—The Kremlin pushed its conflict with Peking nearer the brink Thursday by declaring it will not make concessions and calling on the Chinese to surrender to Moscow's line.

The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda indicated Premier Khrushchev and his advisers have little if any hope left of avoiding a formal break in Communist party relations with Red China.

The article appeared a few hours after the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia had accused Peking of ignoring the Chinese-Soviet treaty of alliance.

The combination of articles in the two official voices of the Soviet Union drew this picture:

1. The world Communist movement is resigning itself to the split.

2. The two biggest Communist powers are going their separate nationalistic ways.

Pravda accused the Chinese of seeking "to split the world Communist movement to further their nationalistic, chauvinistic and far-reaching hegemonistic aims."

This returned repeated Chinese charges that Moscow is corrupting the movement to benefit Soviet national policy. Peking accuses the Kremlin of going soft on revolution because the Soviet Union is getting too prosperous to be concerned about spreading communism.

Llama Louie On The Llam

SOUTH HOLLAND, Ill. (AP) — Disaster loomed Wednesday when Louie the llama took it on the llam.

Louie leaped from his pen at the home of Clarence Smit, 46, in Thornton Township, leaving behind the Smits, assorted ponies and sheep, and two other llamas, including his llama mama.

About 50 llama hunters took up the chase. They and the llama succeeding only in trampling an onion patch and blocking traffic on the heavily traveled Calumet Expressway.

Milton Smit, 16, used a horse to chase Louie onto the lawn of the Illiana Veterinary Hospital. There Clarence Smit laid Louie low with a flying tackle.

Louie was led back to his pen.

Goldwater's Ohio Backers Optimistic

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) —Sen. Barry Goldwater's Ohio followers now predict his first-ballot nomination for president at the Republican National Convention, with the Buckeye State on his bandwagon.

But GOP State Chairman Ray C. Bliss and "favorite son" Gov. James A. Rhodes, who will have much to say about what the Ohioans do, are quiet about plans for their 58-vote delegation pending a caucus here this month.

Dr. N. B. Livingston Jr., chairman of the Ohio Goldwater for President Committee, asserts the senator's California election victory virtually sewed up the Buckeye vote.

"I expect the Ohio delegation now to be a Goldwater delegation," the 46-year-old obstetrician says.

Rep. John M. Ashbrook, 17th District delegate and early Goldwater backer in Ohio, claims about 35 in the Buckeye delegation favor the senator with others leaning towards him.

Ashbrook said the delegation contains a core of 15 determined to stay with Goldwater — if he fails to win on the first ballot — until the senator is nominated or releases them.

The congressman includes himself il that bloc.

Cuban Hero Caught But Not In Cuba

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Manuel Ray, head of the Cuban Revolutionary Junta, was identified definitely Thursday as one of eight persons captured in the Bahamas by the British destroyer Decoy.

Rogelio Cisneros, chief in exile of the Revolutionary Junta at Miami, told The Associated Press the leader of the party was the dapper, 39-year-old Ray. He had been booked by police here as Manuel Martinez.

Ray had vowed that he would be fighting in Cuba by last May 20, or he would be dead.

Cisneros said Ray had not got inside Cuba.

"It was impossible because of the extraordinary vigilance of Castro's authorities," Cisneros said.

Another spokesman for Ray's group admitted that Ray's arrest would hurt them. "But this setback is an incitement to continue the fight against Castro," he said.

Earlier, a Bahamas police official had confirmed that Ray was one of those captured Monday at Anguilla Cay, 30 miles north of the Cuban coast. This is a favorite staging area for exile raids against Prime Miniser Fidel Castro's regime.

Seven of the prisoners, including five Cubans and two American photographers, were taken off the destroyer openly and paraded to magistrae's court for trial.

Later, police sneaked "Martinez" off the ship, and when he entered and left the courtroom a ring of police screened him from the view of newsmen.

Magistrate John Bailey fined each of the prisoners five pounds —$14—for illegal possession of firearms, dismissed charges of illegal entry into British waters, and turned them over to immigration officials.

Normally, exile raiders caught in the Bahamas are sent to the United States.

Ray, an underground leader in the Castro revolution, disappeared two weeks ago. Exiles waited in suspense to learn whether he had made good on his promise to be fighing his old boss by May 20.

Presumably, Ray was on his way to Cuba, since he was in possession of arms and ammunition. No one knew if he had reached Cuba on an earlier trip prior to May 20.

The Decoy, part of the British and U.S. patrol against exile attacks on Cuba, spotted a fast launch Monday leaving Anguilla Cay, 30 miles north of the Cuban coast.

After a 12-mile chase, the Decoy overhauled the launch and its five occupants. A landing party, sent ashore on the cay, arrested three others.

Those in the boat were identified in court Thursday as Andrew St. George and Tom Dunkin, New York photographers, Miss Mirta Barras, Juan Diaz, Armando Lastra.

Florida To Cuba

Phantom Flight Called Phony

WASHINGTON (AP) — A reported phantom flight from Florida to Cuba was described Thursday by the Pentagon as a "complete and utter hoax."

However, editors of the two Florida newspapers that published the story said they were convinced the flight took place and that it left from Florida.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus Vance reported to Congress after an investigation of published accounts of the reported anti-Castro raid of May 25 that it never happened.

Vance made public a letter he wrote to Chairman Carl Vinson, D-Ga., of the House Armed Services Committee answering questions raised by Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla.

Rogers told the House on May 27 that if published reports were true that a plane flew from Florida to Cuba and back without being detected by U.S. radar, then there appeared to be "an inexcusable gap in the U.S. air defense system."

Rogers said he was asking Vinson's committee to investigate.

Accounts of the claimed flight as published said the plane, on a leaflet-dropping mission for Cuban exiles, flew only 100 feet above the water to avoid radar detection.

Vance wrote Vinson that investigation showed the story was concocted for publicity purposes.

"The radar defense of southern Florida were not evaded on May 25,'" he said.

Barry Now Boasts 446 Votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania picked up four delegates and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York added three as changes were made Thursday in the alignment of delegates to the Republican presidential nomi*nating convention.*

But the changes left Rockefeller and Scranton still trailing *far behind Sen. Barry Goldwa*ter, R-Ariz., in the Associated Press survey of delegates. That survey showed this first ballot lineup based on primary commitments, instructions, pledges, and state preference:

Goldwater 446; Rockefeller 120; Scranton 77; Henry Cabot Lodge 44; Sen. Margaret Chase Smith 15; Richard M. Nixon 13; Favorite sons 102; uncommitted 233.

The nomination requires 655 votes.

Scranton made a net gain of four votes in the Rhode Island delegation, jumping from four to eight after Gov. John H. Chafee publicly endorsed the Pennsylvanian Thursday.

Korean Students Seek New Leader

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—The tide of opposition to President Chung Hee Park's regime swept across the nation Thursday. About 10,000 students demonstrated in eight major cities, demanding he resign.

There were clashes in three of the cities, the worst occurring at Kwangju, where 57 policemen and 20 demonstrators were injured. The other five demonstrations produced no clashes, said reports reaching the capital.

Still hoping to conciliate the students, Park held off on extending martial law from Seoul to other outlying cities where students have been agitating against his regime off and on since March.

Martial law was ordered in Seoul after riotous demonstrations by 30,000 adults and students injured more than 600 police and demonstrators Wednesday.

Such student demonstrations brought down President Syngman Rhee's government in 1960.

Two front-line army divisions, released at Park's request from the operation control of U.S. Gen. Hamilton H. Howze's United Nations Command, were in and around Seoul to enforce martial law.

The chief charges of the students are that there is government corruption and abuse of police power.

Behind all the unrest is the fact that poverty is widespread and inflation eats away at meager earnings of many of the employed despite the millions in aid poured in by the United States.

Park said his government during its short term in office had been unable to make enough progress to satisfy the people.

UN Watchdog Unit On Viet Nam Border

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U.N. Security Council voted Thursday to send three of its members to the Cam*bodia-South Viet Nam border* area to study how to end border violations that Cambodia called aggression.

Agreement came after nearly two weeks of intensive debate.

The vote was ananimous for the resolution following a separate vote on the inquiry board provision, on which the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia abstained.

*Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedo*renko, the Soviet delegate, criticized the resolution prepared by Morocco and the Ivory Coast on the grounds that "its delicate language" did not name the *United States outright as an ag*gressor. But he said the debate in the council had clearly established that fact.

After the voting, Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson lashed back at Fedorenko for continually harping on claims of U.S. aggression although it had been clearly shown that only one American, on only one occasion, had been involved.

He said the United States had voiced its regrets for an accidental crossing of the Cambodian border and there was never any proved fact of U.S. aggression.

Romney Urges Strike-Torn Plant Closed

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Angrily charging that the Essex Wire Corp. is "guilty of unfair labor practices and worse," Gov. George W. Romney sought legal authority Thursday to shut down anew the company's strikebound plant at Hillsdale.

At the same time, the governor had state labor mediators summon officials of both Essex Wire and the striking International Union of Electrical Workers to Lansing to renew negotiations which broke down Tuesday.

Meanwhile, approximately 1,000 National Guardsmen called out a week ago "to protect life and property" patroled Hillsdale to prevent a new eruption of violence which caused Romney to establish a state or public emergency in that city of 7,629.

The 97-day-old strike was called by the IUE in an attempt to win a first contract at Essex, after having ousted the Teamsters Union as bargaining agent last fall.

Whiskey Toast Takes 20 Years For Ex-Sailors

NEW YORK (AP)—A whisky toast that was two decades in the making was drunk Thursday night by 23 Navy veterans of World War II combat in the Pacific.

Guests of honor at the ceremony were Charles F. Brunke and a bottle of whisky which survived the torpedoing of the aircraft carrier Intrepid and the thirst of the 101st Detachment of the night fighter squadron.

Brunke, now an oil burner repairman on *Long Island and fa*ther of nine children, took seven bottles of whisky aboard the carrier from Rhode Island in 1944.

When the ship was hit, the bottles somehow survived, but six were quickly drained by the squadron members and others aboard the craft. The carrier remained afloat.

"I took the remaining bottle and had all the fellows in our group sign it and we then pledged to have a reunion in 20 years, if we got out of the war alive, and drink a toast from it," Brunke explained.

Thursday night, from as far away as California, all but 3 of the original 26 men who signed the bottle showed up for the toasting.

Two were killed in action. Another telegraphed that he would be unable to make the reunion.

Keystone Votes Tempt Barry

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Backers of Sen. Barry Goldwater for the Republican presidential nomination launched a drive Wednesday to win Pennsylvania's 64 delegates to the GOP convention in San Francisco July 13.

John G. Pew Jr., vice chairman of the Goldwater-For-President organization, said supporters of the Arizona senator would begin circulating petitions to urge Pennsylvania's 64-man delegation to back Goldwater.

"I'd like to get 250,000 signatures," said Pew.

In a recent poll, 60 of the 64 delegates said they would go along with Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania as a favorite son candidate to keep the state's delegation united. Three delegates were pledged to Goldwater, and another was undecided.

Scranton, who has said he is not a candidate, agreed to the favorite son role to keep the delegation united. He said he would like to see an unpledged delegation go to the convention.

Blue Route Plans Set Next Week

HARRISBURG (AP) — Final design contracts for the controversial Blue Route in Delaware County may be awarded next week, it was learned Thursday.

A Highways Department official who declined to be quoted said planners were working closely with a consulting engineer on the section of highway which would extend through the Swarthmore College campus.

Construction of the highway, to run some 20 miles on a north-south line through mid Delaware County, has been pending almost since the end of World War II because of a series of controversies over location of the road.

The mid-county expressway will ultimately cost an estimated $77 million.

Military Called Up In Malaysia

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—Malaysia announced on Thursday a military callup of 12,000 to 15,000 men and women to meet the threat from Indonesia and Prime Minister Abdul Rahman consulted an astrologer on what lies ahead for his young nation.

Rahman told the Cabinet he will not attend a proposed summit meeting with President Sukarno of Indonesia, in Tokyo unless the Indonesian quit hedging on withdrawing guerrillas from Malaysia's Borneo states of Sarawak and Sabah.

Then he met with astrologer P. R. Pillai, who told him the summit meeting will open June 15 but there would be no complete solution of the crisis, which will continue for 18 months. But Pillai said Rahman would win a victory at the summit because he will gain world sympathy.

If the astrologer is to be believed, Indonesia will agree to Rahman's demand that the guerrillas start to withdraw before the summit meeting. But the Indonesians are insisting any pullout of the guerrillas will have to depend on the progress of the summit talks.

With Indonesia still talking about crushing Malaysia, the manpower minister, Khaw Kai Boh, announced Malaysia's decision to call up men and women for military service and civil defense.

Those picked for military service will be given basic training and then be assigned to active duty or be placed on reserve status, the minister added. Malaysia now has an army of about 15,000 men.

Do Your Eyes Tell How You React?

Editor's note: Do your eye movements give a clue as to how you will react to various situations? Dr. Barton Blinder, after three years of research, believes it's possible.

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Can the way you move your eyes—or fail to move them—show how you would react to disturbing thoughts or dangerous incidents?

What do you see when you look at a picture? And how do you want to see the picture—and why do you want to see it that way?

These questions on "looking behaviors" are the subject of a unique research project begun in 1962 by a then University of Pennsylvania medical student under the direction of a psychiatrist.

Dr. Barton Blinder, 25, who graduated last month and will interne this fall in Long Beach, Calif., Memorial Hospital, said his award-winning study is pure research which could, when fully documented, have some application in future psychiatric treatment or diagnosis. Possibly even with mental patients.

Such a prospect, he said, is at least four years off.

Blinder said experiments, during which the eyes of the looking person were watched and photographed, showed that people who sought to hide unhappy situations saw less of a picture—and remembered less about it.

"Those who are able to look but refuse to let it affect them and not be disturbed about it personally, are able to look over the whole picture and try to see everything," Blinder said.

"They have a freer pattern. They aren't afraid to move their eyes over the entire scene, and they have fuller recall of what they've seen."

In the experiments each person tested saw the same 10 pictures for a maximum of 10 seconds. While they looked their heart beat and skin response (such as so-called goose bumps) were checked for reaction.

Blinder and Dr. Lester Luborsky, of Penn's psychiatry department, said the pictures were classified "neutral" or "threatening" by their anxiety-arousing potential, and included happy people and those in fighting or sexual scenes.

Blinder's project won a $200 prize in Penn's annual Undergraduate Medical Association (UMA) day. He did most of his research during summers and classes.

The eye movements of the subjects — college students or their wives—were recorded by a special $5,000 camera developed by Dr. Norman Mackworth of Harvard University. It allowed Blinder to see where, how long and in what sequence a person looked at different parts of a picture.

The movements were then correlated with results of psychological tests.

Primarily, said Blinder, "what we wanted to learn was whether looking provokes reaction, how does this influence the eye movements and how much does the person remember of what he sees."

"We found that people were either repressionists, those who sought to ignore disturbing situations by not looking at them, or isolationists, who take in at violence or people in trouble, emotionally," Blinder said.

"People who deal with disturbing situations by depression tend to have a restricted looking pattern. They look around less and are less free in the inspection of a picture. They focus their eyes on one spot instead of looking around."

He found that people who repress their looking tend to recall less of a picture which showed conflict "whereas a person who didn't take the scene to heart could recall much more of what he saw.

Blinder said he cannot foretell future uses of his tests, although admitting it might be helpful in testing mental patients or those under the influence of certain medicines or drugs.

"This type of work takes a long time to check for definite patterns," Blinder said, "And it must be conducted under a cloak of secrecy."

Blinder, whose wife is an art teacher in the Philadelphia public school system, has one child, 18-month-old Madeline.

He said after his internship he hopes to return east for his psychiatric residency and then possibly enter into research and teacher.

Anti-Poverty Office Will Focus On Federal Domestic Problems

WASHINGTON—The poverty bill now before Congress would give the President a new tool for coordinating the bewildering variety of wide-flung domestic programs conducted by the Federal Government.

It would create an Office of Economic Opportunity under the President with authority to call upon all existing federal agencies to bend their efforts toward a coordinated effort to eliminate poverty.

The OEO would in effect be an "Office of Welfare Mobilization." It would thus have an overview of domestic federal activities held by perhaps no other office except the White House itself.

Most attention to the poverty bill, approved by the House Education and Labor Committee May 26, has been focused on the specific programs which the bill would provide.

As proposed by the Administration, these would include: A federal Job Corps for school dropouts; work-training programs for school dropouts in their communities; federally financed part-time jobs for college students; work and training programs for welfare recipients; special programs of aid to the rural poor; loans to stimulate employment of the long-time jobless; a "domestic peace corps" for volunteer social workers; and financial and technical assistance to stimulate the development of "community action programs" to combat poverty.

All of these programs are new except the work for welfare recipients, rural poor and long-time jobless employment programs.

Committee Action

The Education and Labor Committee deleted only a program of loans to businesses which hired unemployed workers (leaving intact a similar program especially keyed to small businesses). It added two new programs of its own: Special aid to migrant farm workers, and a program to teach English to illiterate adults.

The Committee agreed to the Administration's request for authority to spend $962.5 million on these programs during the first year of operation.

The poverty bill was approved by a straight party-line vote, after the Democratic majority beat back Republican efforts to modify the programs and to place responsibility for them under existing agencies rather than a new OEO.

Republicans were especially critical of creating a federal "Poverty Czar" in the Office of Economic Opportunity.

But some federal poverty officials believe that the coordinative function assigned to the OEO is the most important aspect of the bill.

"It will permit getting the greatest mileage out of existing federal funds and programs," an official explains. "The Director will be able to milk each program to the maximum extent possible" in carrying out the purpose of the poverty bill—"to eliminate the paradox of poverty in the midst of plenty . . . by opening to everyone the opportunity for education and training, the opportunity to work, and the opportunity to live in decency and dignity."

How Program Would Work

The Director of the OEO—likely to be Peace Corps Director R. Sargent Shriver, Jr., if the bill is approved this year—would chair a "small welfare cabinet" consisting of the Secretaries of Defense, Interior, Agriculture, Commerce, Labor, and Health, Education and Welfare, as well as the Attorney General, the Chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, the Director of Selective Service, and the Administrators of the Housing and Home Finance Agency and the Small Business Administration.

This group would set federal policy for conducting the "war on poverty." To carry out the policy, the Director would have under him a planning and coordinating staff which would coordinate Government poverty efforts.

Also within the OEO would be separate staffs to operate the federal Job Corps and the Volunteers, and to oversee community action programs.

The OEO would distribute funds to existing agencies to operate a variety of programs authorized under the bill: Work-training programs through the Labor Department; work-study (college part-time jobs), community work and training for welfare recipients, adult basic education, and health, education, and child-care for migrant farm workers, all through HEW; rural poverty programs and housing for migrants and other farm workers through Agriculture; loans for small businesses through the Small Business Administration.

Variety of Federal Programs

Poverty officials point out that there are currently hundreds, possible thousands, of federal programs which community action programs or other aspects of the anti-poverty fight could draw upon.

For instance, construction projects which might provide employment in connection with a community action program are carried out by or with assistance from, among others, the Department of Commerce, HEW, Defense, Agriculture, Interior, and Post Office; the Housing and Home Finance Agency and the General Services Administration. These projects range from interstate highways to urban renewal, from small dams to forest trails.

Likewise, training and other special educational programs, federal credit and insurance programs, and sanitation and housing programs are handled by many agencies.

Commissioners Take Hands Off Stand On Election Of Kresge

By Jeff Cox
Daily Record Reporter

STROUDSBURG — Ray Roberts, Republican committeeman from Middle Stroud Township who has challenged Harold Kresge's election as GOP County chairman, was told yesterday the county commissioners have no jurisdiction to rule on the validity of the election.

The commissioners decided, however, to continue holding a letter of certification from Nancy Shukaitis, GOP secretary, under advisement until June 15.

This means that the board will not recognize Kresge as chairman until that time. If, in the meantime, the Republican state committee rules that the election was invalid, the commissioners will not approve the certificate.

On May 20 Roberts, Bartonsville Businessman, led a move to replace Kresge as county chairman with B. K. Williams, East Stroudsburg businessman. It was felt by Roberts' faction that they could succeed if a secret ballot were held.

Atty. Elmer Christine, Republican parliamentarian at the meeting, ruled that a roll call vote should be taken — and Kresge won.

Roberts' faction felt that a secret ballot was the correct method of electing the chairman and approached Republican commissioner John Price. Price agreed to bring the matter up before the board.

Under Advisement

He did bring the matter up —on Monday — and it was decided to hold the matter under advisement until June 15, by which time a ruling should be made by the state committee.

In his context, Roberts appeared yesterday before the board and stated his position.

His statement was:

"As Republican committeeman from the Middle District of Stroud Township, I would like to reiterate my challenge of the election of the officers of the Monroe County Republican party on May 20.

"My challenge is based on the following allegations:

"First, in several instances, attorney Elmer Christine, serving as parliamentarian along with attorney Phillip Williams, appeared to have ruled incorrectly as far as the accepted 'Roberts Rules of Parliamentary Procedure.'

"Second, the interpretation of the rules governing the election was inconsistent with the precedence established in past elections of the subject organization and appeared to be arbitrary and not based on fact.

"Third, the spokesman for the two parliamentarians, Mr. Christine, actively solicited support for (Harold) Kresge, one of the candidates, and thus would appear to be biased and unable to render objective decisions.

Claims Heresay

"Fourth, Mr. Christine quoted as his authority for the roll call vote, a telephone conversation with Craig Traux, Republican State Chairman. This, obviously, is heresay by nature and is not a basis of fact as it was employed for Mr. Christine's purposes.

"Fifth, numerous committeemen spoke in support of holding the election of officers by secret ballot. Not one committeeman spoke in support of a contrary method of election.

"Debate on the subject of the method of voting was incorrectly cut off by the chairman (William Quinn) of that portion of the meeting, at the direction of the parliamentarian, Mr. Christine.

". . . (the certificate from Nancy Shukaitis) is not a complete report of the election in that it made no reference to the challenge.

"You (the commissioners), as board of elections. ..are placed in a difficult position by the letter requesting certification, which in itself is misleading.

"Myself — and my contemporaries — as committeemen, have an obligation to those who placed us in office to reflect the sentiments regarding our party's leadership. We cannot do this if our vote places undue jeopardy on us or the constituents in our district.

"I ask that you. . .carefully review the transcript of the referenced meeting; if you have any reasonable basis to question the procedures used, I ask that you deny the request for certification until such time as you can be satisfied that the validity of the election method has been duly arbitrated by the Republican State Committee or its representatives to the satisfaction of the majority of the members of the Monroe County Republican Committee."

"Right House But Wrong Pew"

Commissioner's chairman Stanley Rader then said, "I don't know whether we have anything to do with this election, other than taking certification. You're in the right house but the wrong pew—you should see the court."

Commissioner's solicitor Russell Mervine then said that "as long as the certification stands, then this board must accept it on its face. Whether the board wishes to object to the election or not, I don't think it can."

"Isn't there a reasonable doubt as to the accuracy of this certificate?" Roberts asked.

"As long as the certificate is signed by the secretary and submitted, we must accept it. You must find your remedy within the party.

"The purpose of certifying a county chairman is so the commissioners know who the chairman is, and whom to recognize. It's merely a ministerial function," Mervine continued.

The solicitor then spoke about the certification of Kresge as county chairman which was done immediately after the present board of commissioners took over in January.

"Ill Advised"

"The last certification was not only ill-advised, it was not advised at all. I was not here," he said.

Rader and Price expained the situation in January, when they approved Kresge chairman without a certification.

They said that "we (the GOP) had an inactive chairman, Parke Unangst, and the Hanford Cleveland faction. We needed an active chairman. Now, both Unangst and Cleveland went to GOP state chairman Craig Traux with Harold Kresge.

"The state committee said it would have no objections to Kresge assuming the functions of chairman. Since the state and federal governments recognized him, we also recognized him shortly after taking office."

Other GOP Electees Challenged

STROUDSBURG — During the discussion of Harold Kresge's election to the post of Monroe County Republican Chairman before the Monroe County Commissioners yesterday, challenger Ray Roberts questioned the validity of other GOP officers.

"Inasmuch as Kresge's prior certification was not based on a certificate (see related story, this page) there is doubt about the validity of his previous term of office," Roberts said.

"He appointed Nancy Shukaitis secretary of the county committee, so if he was not the true chairman, she is not the true secretary of the party," he continued.

Barbara Drake

"If she is not the true secretary, then the elections she certified on May 20 are not valid — including Harold Kresge's to the chairmanship. Barbara Drake was the last elected secretary before Shukaitis," he said.

Solicitor Russell Mervine said that she was elected to the position on May 20, so she can be considered the true secretary.

Roberts countered with the contention that the election was not valid because of the procedure used.

Roberts was asked where he planned to go from here with the fight.

"I'm going back to my committee people to decide if we should push it further," he said. "I've talked with Craig Traux (state GOP chairman) and he was sympathetic with the problem. I want the state commitee to be the arbitrators, and Traux said something would be done soon," Roberts said.

Price Gives Reasons For Holding Up Nod

STROUDSBURG—County Commissioner John Price, a Republican who has been active in holding up the endorsement of Harold Kresge as county GOP chairman, yesterday gave his reasons.

Price, who was asked to have the board hold Kresge's certification under advisement until a ruling on his election could be obtained from the GOP state committee, said that there was nothing personal in his holding up the certification.

"I want to see this election out in the open," he said.

"Why can't I, a county commissioner, and a Republican, have access to the transcript of that May 20 meeting at which Kresge was elected? What is there to hide?" he said.

Claims Things Mishandled

"I've been a Republican in this county for 35 years, and I've never seen things run the way they are now. This is the main problem with Kresge—the way things are handled.

"For instance, after I became a county commissioner, I should have been made a member of the county executive committee—automatically.

"I've never been given that honor—though the rule book says I should be on the executive committee.

"It's come to the point where I have to show Mr. Kresge who is county commissioner. John Price was elected by the people to serve in the ways the state has prescribed. We have a rule book; we should follow it," he said.

West End Demos Hear 3 Officials

KUNKLETOWN — County Chairman James Cadue, Rep. Van D. Yetter and Monroe County Commissioner Stuart Pipher were speakers a a recent meeting of West End Democratic Club in the firehall at Kunkletown.

The three men acted as a panel and answered questions from the membership.

Witold Tilwick, club president, told the meeting, "The interest shown by the advisory committee indicates to me that they have a tremendous interest in the West End and the results of the fine turnout in the primary election proved it.

"The results of the election will prove that the Democratic party will win the general elec*tion with a landslide vote, from* President Johnson on down," he concluded.

Tilwick pointed out that all the members of the Democratic party should not talk optimistically but pessimistic attitudes and remarks in reference to "Tough row to hoe' should be left to the Republicans.

Introduced, but did not speak, were Associate Judge Walter Heckman and former Associate Judge Mrs. Florence Warner.

Tilwick said the next meeting will be held at Varkony's Inn, Saylorsburg, Thursday, June 25, at 8 p.m.

Sheep, none.

Kresge: Election According To Law

STROUDSBURG — Harold Kresge yesterday maintained the recent election to choose a Republican county chairman went according to law and that he harbors no grudge against Republican county commissioner John Price.

"I haven't done anything to cause Price to be in disfavor with me. I am open minded and I will sit down and talk with him anytime. In my mind there is no justification for his attitude. My conscience is clear," Kresge said.

Price's Stand

Price explained his position by saying, "I had to act the way I did because I am a county commissioner. Many people complained to me about the way the election was held. I represent those people just as I do Kresge."

While talking about the apparent rupture between he and Price, Kresge said, "If it wasn't for me he might not have been a candidate (for county commissioner). The organization gave him full support.

Came For Advice

"He came to me for advice and I told him what he ought to do and I think he followed the advice. Then all of a sudden something happened and I don't know what. I am not after Price. I am working for the Republican party and not one individual."

Area Raises $1,700 For Lafayette

STROUDSBURG — George Mensch, Monroe County chairman of Lafayette College's fund raising drive, last night said that more than $1,700 of the $6,000 goal for the county has been collected.

He added that the goal for the greater Easton drive, of $400,000 was surpassed yesterday when $418,749 in gifts and pldges were tallied by campaign officials.

Victor W. Anckaitis, campaign chairman for the Greater Easton Area, added that some 700 potential gifts are still unreported and it is now possible for the campaign workers to obtain as much as half a million dollars in the campaign.

Deadline for the $400,000 goal was today. It started May 7.

This was the first of more than 20 regional drives to be conducted by Lafayette throughout the nation before the end of 1964.

It is part of a three-year effort, by the college, to raise $7,000,000. The drive was launched after the college was named recipient of a $2,000,000 grant from the Ford Foundation. The college will get the grant only if it can raise $5,000,000 by June 30, 1966.

Included in the Greater Easton Area is Monroe County, all of Northampton County, except Bethlehem and Hellertown, and Warren and Hunterdon Counties in New Jersey.

County Backs Tocks Via Resolution

STROUDSBURG—The Monroe County Commissioners yesterday passed a resolution favoring construction of the Tocks Island Dam and Recreation Area.

It will be sent to Congressman Fred B. Rooney in Washington and placed in evidence at hearings on a bill to create the multi-million dollar watershed project.

Along with the commissioners' resolution, letters from three mayors, Thomas Kistler of East Stroudsburg, Joseph Small of Stroudsburg, and Gerald M. Possinger of Mt. Pocono, favoring the project were sent to Rep. Rooney.

Letters giving information on the surplus food program in the county, and favoring a change to the food stamp program, were also sent to the Congressman.

Letters of information—which had been requested by Rooney in his efforts to have the stamp plan initiated in Monroe County—were sent by Stuart Pipher on behalf of H. Ray Saunders, surplus food administrator; Virginia Katsaromitsos of the Dept. of Public Assistance, and John P. Dougherty of the Bureau of Employment Security.

A letter praising the stamp plan was also sent to Mayor Small.

A bill concerning the stamp plan has passed the House and will be taken up in the Senate after the Civil Rights filibuster is over.

Counties will be given aid to set up the plan on a first-come, first-served basis. For this reason, the commissioners have been pushing to have Monroe County's case presented through Rooney as early as possible.

In other business, Stuart Pipher made a motion to ask Harold Albert of the Stroud Township supervisors to go ahead with stream clearance on the Little Pocono Creek at Dogwood Gardens.

A representative from Rinker, Kiefer and Rake, architects, discussed change orders for work being done in the basement of the courthouse.

License plates for passenger cars throughout the 50 states were set at a standard size of six by 12 inches in 1958.

Cooperation A Must

The Monroe County Commissioners have been striving for more inter-office cooperation within the county—and they need it.

Two instances have developed in the last week where the county could have affected savings of several thousands of dollars if an over-all plan of cooperation and information were in effect.

In the first instance, the commissioners decided to excavate the entire basement of the new $600,000 addition to Pleasant Valley Manor now under construction, for future use as an emergency hospital.

The original contract called for two large areas of the basement to be left unexcavated.

On May 27—two weeks before the steel was to be put in place at the construction site—the commissioners were handed a proposal to excavate the cellar. It was brought up by Dr. John Martucci.

It was a good idea. But it should have been proposed when the plans were first made by the last board of commissioners.

The architectural firm of Rinker, Kiefer and Rake said the Public Health Service had said it was not necessary to dig out the cellar when plans were first made.

Last Monday M. R. Kiefer told the commissioners he thought it would be "a good idea" to excavate.

Following the reasonable argument, the commissioners okayed the extra work. But the $5,625 cost of the added digging will be placed squarely on the county.

If it were included in the original plans, the state might have been made to see that is was necessary, being used for an emergency hospital, and might have paid much of the cost.

The second instance is worse.

The builders of the newly-renovated basement of the county courthouse put in the ceiling before wiring for a sound system was installed.

The bid from the sound system installer is about $200 higher because he must destroy some of the ceiling to install the wires. The ceiling has been in place for only a few weeks. Commissioner Stuart Pipher was understandably angry when he heard of the boggle.

Whose fault was this mixup? Everybody's probably. If the left hand knew what the right was doing, this situation would never have occurred.

The commissioners set up monthly meetings with the heads of county offices at Pleasant Valley Manor to preclude such snafus.

In the last two months, attendance has dwindled to next to nothing.

If further losses of funds are to be stopped, the feeling of inter-office cooperation should be fired up again.

Scranton Boom Again?

Senator Barry Goldwater's victory in the Republican Presidential primary in California will probably lead to new pressure on Pennsylvania Governor William Scranton to run for President or vice president.

Scranton is one of the few Republican possibilities who seems to have active support in every other Republican camp. He appears acceptable to Goldwater and to Rockefeller forces, but said yesterday again that he is not interested unless there is an "honest and sincere" draft. (See story on page 1.)

Therefore, in the present Republican party schism—evident in the narrow 50.9 per cent victory of Goldwater in California—Scranton could be either a compromise Presidential candidate or a vice presidential candidate.

Unfortunately for the Republican party and the nation, Goldwater is now near victory on one of the early ballots at the Republican national convention July 13. With his capture of California's 86 convention votes, Goldwater now has 438 of the 655 needed for nomination as Presidential candidate.

Scranton may now become the Presidential choice of a compromise stop-Goldwater movement formed by the combined Eisenhower, moderate and liberal Republican majority of the Republican party still anti-Goldwater.

He is also in the peculiar position of being a possible Goldwater choice for vice presidential candidate if the Arizona senator wins the Presidential nomination.

Former Vice President Richard Nixon said yesterday that he secretly worked for Goldwater in California, and picked Scranton as his first choice for vice president.

Nixon himself could fill the same compromise position in the badly-split Republican party today.

But Scranton has the advantage of a good record of election and legislative victories, while Nixon has now lost a Presidential and a California gubernatorial election.

There will be more knocks at Scranton's door. Whether he will maintain his present "I am not interested" position is a very interesting political question.

Comment Of The Day

"It is a victory for the great majority of Republicans across the country who share my belief that Lyndon Baines Johnson can be beaten in 1964 if we Republicans concentrate our fire on him and not on each other."

—Senator Barry Goldwater speaking after his Republican primary election victory in California.

'Dick's Struck Out Twice . . . But He May Be Due This Time'

The Pennsylvania Story

One Lung Puffing

By Mason Denslon

HARRISBURG — Reporter's Notebook:

It was a one lung heave-ho for Pennsylvania's Legislature this week as only the Senate met while the House of Representatives stayed in recess—but the split was not without good reason.

In the House it was a question of marking time until the Senate cleared top-priority legislation after the lower chamber last week managed to complete most of its housekeeping chores of any significant note . . . Up before the Senate this week was the $70 million conservation and reclamation program for the Keystone State (known as "Project 70") along with the billion-dollar-plus general appropriations bill for the fiscal year beginning July 1, and revision of Pennsylvania's eminent domain laws.

Legislative leaders would like to end the 1964 sessions next week but this appears to be most remote at this point . . . A mid-June or even possibly a late June sine die adjournment seems much more realistic and likely.

Democratic Meat-Grinder — Reports that the biennial reorganization meeting of the 116-member Democratic State Committee had been postponed from Wednesday to June 15 in bowing acquiescence to Democratic Senator Joseph S. Clark—have drawn little other than grunts of exasperation from most party leaders filtering in and out of Democratic State Headquarters here.

The key seems to lie in the fact that by the time the Clark letter went out to State Committee people suggesting the postponement of the reorganization meeting until after the outcome of the Blatt-Musmanno senatorial contest had finally been decided, decision to delay the committee meeting to June 15 had already been made!

It was coincidental that actual announcement of the changed meeting date of the Democratic State Committee followed by one day the release of the Clark letter requesting delay in the meeting date and hold up in the naming of the Democratic State Chairman for the coming two years.

Currently Otis B. Morse holds the chairmanship and is interested in another term at the helm . . . Reports have it that Clark (who led the insurgent bid of Genevieve Blatt for the senatorial nomination against organization - backed Justice Michael Musmanno) is gunning for the Morse hide and would like to see him replaced as State Chairman.

The fact remains however that the ruling party moguls who put Morse in the chairmanship in the first place are still the party moguls and represent by far and wide the majority of the 116 members of the state committee, as opposed to a small Clark following . . . As one (exasperated) party leader phrased it:

"The whole thing is nothing more than an over-frothing in the bathtub; a calculated one at that it would seem. Too many people have added three and three and come up with four-and-a-half—not even five!

Students Abroad Program — Three of Pennsylvania's State Colleges are again taking part in "Junior Year Abroad Programs" this year for prospective teachers of modern foreign languages, according to the Department of Public Instruction.

Indiana State College is sponsoring the Pennsylvania-Valladolid-Study-in-Spain Program from June 4 to January 5, 1965; Millersville State College is sponsoring the Junior-Year-in-Germany at Marburg from September 10 to August, 1965, and the Junior-Year-at-Besancon, France, will be available through West Chester State College from October to June, 1965.

(The programs are open to students of any Pennsylvania college and to Pennsylvania residents attending institutions in other states.)

The Allen-Scott Report

Refugee Lure

Paul Scott

WASHINGTON — The State Department is secretly engaged in one of the most astounding "refugee relocation" operations on record.

Involved in this extraordinary affair are thousands of Russians whom Red China mysteriously is permitting to "flee" from their long-time settlements in the Harbin area in northeastern Manchuria.

Already more than 10,000 have reached Hong Kong, several thousand miles from Harbin, and other "refugees" are arriving at the rate of several hundred a month.

Aim of the State Department is to resettle these unscreened Russians, who have lived for years under Communist Chinese rule, in various countries, among them Australia, New Zealand, Canada, Latin America and the U.S. — if congressional authorization can be wangled.

Anticipated cost of this huge and so-far-carefully-unannounced operation is $25 million — to be borne entirely by the U.S.

Various agencies are being tapped for these funds, including foreign aid.

All this is being done with the full knowledge and approval of President Johnson. The necessary backstage directives have been handled by Secretary Dean Rusk.

In immediate charge is Abba Schwartz, controversial head of the Bureau of Consular & Security Affairs, who has been in Hong Kong for several weeks setting up the resettlement machinery.

In this unpublicized project, Schwartz is encountering two embarrassing difficulties:

One is the sinister record of several thousand of these Russian "refugees" resettled in 1960, with U.S. assistance, in Brazil, Ecuador, Colombia and Mexico. In all of these countries, a number have been expelled or jailed on grounds of espionage, violence and joining local Communists in attempts to overthrow the government.

The other problem is the vehement opposition of U.S. and British authorities in Hong Kong, who are bombarding Washington and London with blunt warnings against the operation.

Under Congressional Scrutiny — Edward E. Rice, U.S. consul general in Hong Kong, has been particularly outspoken in his protests.

In numerous cables, carefully stamped "Top Secret" by the State Department, Rice has sought to ascertain who initiated this explosive "refugee" resettlement program without consulting him and other on-the-ground officials. So far, Rice has gotten no answers to his pointed questions.

He and equally critical authorities first got wind of this extraordinary operation when Hong Kong bankers informed them of the deposit of $25 million to finance it.

U.S. and British intelligence alarmed because of their virtual certainty that numerous Red agents are among the "refugees".

The record of what happened in Brazil and the other Latin American countries is cited as irrefutable evidence of this. It is being pointed out that the resettlement plans call for no effective screening of these thousands of Russians who for years have lived under direct Communist rule and propagandizing.

Two congressional committees have been apprised of this astounding affair and are preparing to investigate.

A House Judiciary subcommittee, headed by Representative Michael Feighan D-O., is digging into it preliminary to summoning top State Department officials for thorough grilling.

Similarly, Representative Otto Passman, D-La., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee in charge of foreign aid and a long-time vigorous foe of large-scale spending for this purpose, plans to conduct a sharp airing. Like Feighan, Passman wants to know who instigated this operation and why; also why foreign aid funds are being used for it.

Passman will bear down heavily on that because of Defense Secretary McNamara's loudly proclaimed contention that foreign aid funds are insufficient to vigorously prosecute the faltering anti-Communist conflict in South Viet Nam.

"On one hand we are told by Secretary McNamara that Congress is to blame for not voting enough foreign aid funds," declared Passman "But at the same time, foreign aid money is being used for a purpose never authorized by Congress. This 'refugees' project is entirely outside the realm of foreign aid spending, and we want to get at the bottom of it."

Dear Abby

'End the Dream'

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please try to help me. I am worried sick about my husband. We've been married 11 years and have three children. He was never graduated from high school but he is smart. He's nice looking, too. Abby, we don't have a cent in the bank. We just barely keep up with the bills. He says he has life insurance and some other policies, but I've never seen them. He claims they are locked up in his boss' safe. I would like to have a look at them. Also, he has never filed any income tax, State or Federal. That is what worries me the most. I love him very much, and know that he can't go on forever without getting caught. Then what? The children and I need him. Can you tell me what to do?

WORRIED SICK

DEAR WORRIED: Collar your dreamer and tell him that if he turns himself in, he will be given the opportunity to pay what he owes on time, plus penalties, and the authorities will be much more lenient with him than if they are forced to charge him with a crime. And let him know that if he doesn't act within one week, you will act for him.

DEAR ABBY: I married a man who was married before. His first wife died. My husband keeps a picture of his late wife on his bureau. When I get up in the morning, this picture is the first thing I see and it depresses me for the rest of the day. I have two children by this marriage and they wonder why they don't see my picture on their Daddy's bureau. Should I suggest to my husband that he move the picture down to his office? If not, what should I do? Please put this in your column. I know other people with the same problem.

"DEPRESSED"

DEAR DEPRESSED: The chances are, your husband is not even aware that his late wife's picture is on his bureau. Remove it. If he misses it and inquires, tell him candidly that it "depressed" you, and suggest that he take it to his office.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and have a big problem — a boy. Can you tell me how to get his attention without being loud? He likes girls for friends but not for girl friends. I have liked him for a long time but he never paid any attention to me so I tried to quit liking him, but I can't. I think if I can get his attention I might have a chance. Do you have any clever ideas?

LIKES HIM

DEAR LIKES: When a boy is ready to like a girl for a girl friend, you won't have to try to get his attention. If he isn't ready and you succeed in getting his attention, it won't do you any good. Be patient. Boys can always tell when they are being chased, and they still prefer to do the chasing.

CONFIDENTIAL TO GORDO: If a man can't break 90, he has no business on a golf course. If he breaks 80, he probably has no business.

Room For Scranton?

By George Dixon

WASHINGTON — The Republican Party is so overcrowded with people who want to be President that there's hardly room for Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania to edge in. If he doesn't want to be trampled, here's a solution so obvious it's a wonder he hasn't leaped at it. Instead of bucking the mob, he should turn Democrat.

Then he'd have to buck only Lyndon B. Johnson.

To do this, Scranton wouldn't have to break too far with tradition. He'd merely have to follow, in reverse, the precedent set by Wendell Willkie and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Willkie was a Democrat up to 1940. Then he turned Republican to go up against Franklin D. Roosevel. Before 1952, Ike had all the marks of being a Democrat. But there were too many Democrats willing to accept the Presidential nomination. Eisenhower came to the conclusion that the thing to be was a Republican.

Scranton would avoid the madding crowd by switching parties. He'd cut the competition to a minimum of one. If, as nearly everybody seems to agree, all the Presidential jostling in the GOP is causing bruises, a Scranton switch would be just what the druggist recommended in the way of liniment.

There is reason to believe that President Johnson would welcome a rival for the Democratic nomination, if he were confident the rival had no chance. It would assure the Democratic National Convention of being a show when it opens in Atlanic City on Aug. 24. Johnson likes a show. The way it looks now, with no contest, the convention threatens to be dull.

No matter what the outcome, Scranton couldn't do any worse than if he persisted in remaining a Republican. He'd have just the same chance of beating LBJ.

Should you chance to see Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman strumming a guitar, thumping a drum, or blowing the bagpipes, don't leap at the conclusion that he's not on the job. He may be killing mosquitoes.

His department has just advanced the idea that mosquitoes as well as flies, moths, and other pests, can be controlled by music.

Music doesn't soothe the savage beasties. It numbs them.

The idea of playing for them, instead of whacking them, was developed by Robert Kirkpatrick, an entomologist at Agriculture's Marketing Service Laboratory at Savannah, Ga. Kirkpatrick first noticed that amplified music seemed to keep flies and mosquitoes away from his backyard patio. He tried some tests at the lab and knocked off pests galore.

His initial victims were moths. He played the radio while they were laying eggs among stored food. Only about one - fourth as many moths developed from these eggs as developed from eggs laid by moths not exposed to music.

The results were much the same with other pests.

Now that the National Symphony Orchestra is working again after a long strike, I think I'll ask Dr. Howard Mitchell, its distinguished leader, to bring his band and kill bugs for us in our backyard the next time we have a drink-and - cookout.

Jennings Randolph of West Virginia is one of the few U.S. Senators to have his number listed in the Washington phone book. Senator Randolph said he gets bothered a lot, but he also builds a lot of goodwill.

The West Virginia contends that he is merely living up to a campaign promise. He told the people of his state he would always be available. All Senators, of course, make this promise, but after getting calls at home at all hours of the night, they decide it's a promise that must be modified.

Senator Randolph said he doesn't have nearly as many crank calls as he'd been led to expect, considering that West Virginia is only a couple of hours drive from Washington, and his constitutents visit here in great numbers.

Drag Races Suggested At Pocono Airport

Editor, The Daily Record:

I am writing to you about something which I think is very important and should be of special interest to the Mount Pocono Airport Authority. I understand they are in need of money.

My husband is a member of the Ridge Runners Auto Club Inc. of Monroe County. This club has received its charter from Harrisburg and is also a member of the National Hot Rod Association.

We have become very concerned about the teenagers who drag (race) on the side roads and even on the highways.

The club is organized "for all young men with a driving permit or license, or whose interests are of a mechanical or administrative nature"—Article III of their Constitution.

But the object of the club (contrary to most people's opinion) "shall be to promote safe and sound driving practices on the streets and highways—to acquaint the general public with the joys of motoring as a sport, not merely as a means of transportation,—to help unveil to the public the true meaning of the 'Hot Rod' and to be dedicated to safety"—Article II of the Ridge Runners Auto Club, Inc.

The club also has very strict rules about personal conduct: "Any member swearing in council meeting shall be fined twenty-five cents per word . . . to be paid on the spot."

And, any member receiving a traffic violation will pay to the organization up to one-half of the fine imposed by the local police department.

"Any member caught dragging the public highways whether by police or members of this organization will be fined . . . first offense, $5; second offense, $25; and he will be expelled for a period of sixty days minimum."—From their by-laws.

I feel that it would be very helpful to this local club and its eighteen members if the Mount Pocono Airport Authority would consider allowing the use of their airstrip for drag racing.

Since the Ridge Runners Auto Club is a non-profit organization they would turn over the proceeds from such a race (or races) to the authority.

The club meets every Tuesday night and I'm sure they would work with Mount Pocono Airport to the best interests of all concerned.

Anyone who is interested in seeing how a drag race is conducted may go to Island Dragway, Great Meadows, N.J., or Pocono Drag Lodge, Bear Creek, Pa.

As a parent I know we must tell our children what they should not do; but that's not enough unless we tell them something they can do.

Speaking Of Your Health:

Readers Are Asking

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

What is Parkinson's disease? Can it be cured?

Parkinson's disease, or paralysis agitans, is a disease of the brain which causes tremors of the hands and neck.

A most characteristic tremor of the hands is described as a "pill-rolling" tremor of the thumb and the index finger. It is named for the way pharmacists hand - rolled tiny pellets many years ago.

Parkinson's disease sometimes produces expressionless rigidity of the muscles of the face.

The past ten years have brought remarkable success in the control of tremors by delicate brain surgery in some cases of Parkinson's disease.

Infected Membrane

What is peritonitis?

Peritonitis is an infection of the peritoneum, the membrane which lines the abdominal cavity.

One of the causes of peritonitis is a ruptured appendix.

Sometimes infectious bacteria may attack the peritoneum through the female genital tract or through the blood stream.

Modern surgical antisepsis and antibiotics, given before and after surgery, have markedly reduced the frequency and severity of peritonitis.

Hormone Glands

Are endocrine glands the same as hormone glands? Are there any others besides the thyroid?

Yes, endocrine glands produce hormones and are called hormone glands or glands of internal secretion.

Besides the thyroid, there are other hormone - producing glands such as the pituitary and the pineal in the brain, the adrenal near the kidney, the testicles, the ovaries, the mammary glands in the breast and the thymus in the chest.

There is an intercommunicating messenger system constantly at work in the blood stream which maintains a check and balance on the body's need for each hormone.

Asthma Age Factor

Is asthma more dangerous in the young than in the elderly?

Most illnesses are somewhat more serious in the elderly than in the young. The vitality of youth helps to withstand better the attacks of illness.

Asthma places an additional burden on the heart and the respiratory system of the elderly.

The cause of asthma must be diligently sought in both the young and the elderly in order to initiate proper treatment.

Medical science has made great strides in the treatment of asthma in all age groups. Cortisone, ACTH, antibiotics and psychological support have proven beneficial in many cases of asthma

Stories Behind Words

Frank

In the third century a group of Germanic tribes that lived along the Rhine and Weser Rivers united. These tribesmen, who were called Franks, overran Gaul — the area that is now France — but they were driven back by the Romans.

In the 5th century, when the power of the Romans had diminished, the Franks conquered Gual.

The Franks, as conquerors, were the only free men in Gaul. So the name "Frank" acquired the meaning of "a free man."

Being free men, the Franks could afford to be open in their speech. Hence, a person who speaks his mind freely is said to be "frank."

Sportsmen Urge Jailing 'Commercial' Deer Killers

TANNERSVILLE— The Monroe County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs has passed a resolution for a mandatory jail sentence for any person caught "commercializing" on deer killed illegally.

The resolution was passed at a recent meeting in the Pocono Elementary Center in Tannersville. The action capped a long debate by the federation seeking remedies for deer killed out of season.

The federation also sent a petition, signed by 2,000 persons, to the Federal Bureau of Roads asking for a deer fence to be erected along Interstate Rt. 80. More than 90 deer have been killed on the road since it was opened last August.

The state Fish Commission told the federation James Hazen, district fish warden, will be transferred to Philadelphia and Montgomery Counties.

W. W. Brittan, chief law enforcement officer for the commission, announced Harvey Burkhart will replace Hazen July 1.

The federation praised Hazen's work since he has been in Monroe County.

A letter was written to Wallace C. Dean, president of the commission, asking the commission to try and determine the legal responsibility for maintaining a fish ladder on the Brodheads Creek at Coates Paper Box Co.

The ladder was washed out during the 1955 flood and has never been replaced.

Seek Fly Stretch

The federation also requested the fish commission to locate a fly fishing stretch between Tobyhanna Lakes number one and two.

John Spencer, county game warden, reported 66 adult turkeys have been released in the county.

James Price, federation president, brought up the question of the state leasing land on Big Pocono to private enterprise. Price wanted to know how much more state land the public is going to lose in this manner?

Hazen said he would complete the in-season stocking of trout in county streams. He said 62,000 trout will be in county streams when the program is complete.

Two Escape Crash Injuries

BRODHEADSVILLE — Two persons escaped injury in two separate accidents while following each other on Rt. 209 at 1:15 p.m. yesterday between Sciota and Brodheadsville.

Stroudsburg State Police said, Carolyn Suminski, 17, of Lansford was traveling south on 209 when she applied her brakes and skidded across the wet surface. The car spun around twice and came to rest in a ditch.

Alvin J. Stewart, 46, of Erie who was following the Suminski vehcile apparently panicked and applied his brakes. When he removed his foot from the brake the car skidded across the highway, went off the road and rolled over twice, police said.

Have you ever seen 7,000 grown men cry? You'd think success would make them happy, but ever since Mustang came out, seven thousand Ford Dealers all over the country have been weeping and wringing their hands. They can't get as many Mustangs as they would like. All this would upset us, too, except it's happened to us before. You see, this was the hottest sales year in Ford Division history even before Mustang came out. At the beginning of the model-year, dealers couldn't get enough of our big, hot Super Torque Ford Hardtops (sales up 54%)...or luxurious Thunderbirds (sales up 68%). Falcon sales are almost as big as Chevy II and Valiant combined. Fairlane continues to be a leader in its field. So, even though some people would like us to put all our plants to work on Mustang, we can't let down our hundreds of thousands of Ford, Thunderbird, Falcon and Fairlane lovers. STROUDSBURG—The annual spring concert of religious music of the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church choirs will be held Sunday, June 7, at 4 p.m., in the church auditorium.

The concert will include selections from both the Junior choir, directed by Miss Marlene Kleinhans, and the Senior choir, directed by Numa Snyder. Margaret Ann Smith and Mrs. Jean Ann Wolbert are accompanists for the Junior and Senior groups, respectively.

The music, although religious of boys and girls from grades 4-8, will sing 4 anthems. The Senior choir will perform two groups of anthems: one based upon words from the Psalms, and the second group consisting of selections taken from larger choral works.

The music, although religious in nature, will range in style from Pergolesi's "Amen", from his "Stabat Mater", through Virgil Thomson's setting of the 23rd Psalm, using an old American folk hymn, to William McRae's contemporary setting of Psalm 96.

A group of organ solos are also included, with Mrs. Wolbert presiding at the recently rebuilt organ. The public is cordially invited to attend this concert. A silver offering will be taken at the door.

This Is Our Fortieth year

Just Between Us — —

It was a beautiful day, once you stopped shivering, and was especially beautiful for the opening tournament of the Glen Brook Women's Golf Assn. with the fairways spongy from the rain and the leaves and sky washed fresh and clean.

Meanwhile back at the clubhouse — any unwary male who ventured by would have known it was Ladies Day, even without any ladies in sight. The young mothers are taking full advantage of the babysitting service, as not only giving them time for golf but giving the kids a sort of built-in party every Thursday.

But young mothers aren't the only ones to find the women's luncheons have their social aspects. Fond grandmothers take advantage of it to introduce their youngest grandchildren to their friends. Making their debut yesterday were Orlole Nitrauer's newest, Lisa Luongo, who at two months has so much hair that people were telling Alice she ought to braid it, and Henrietta Metzgar's granddaughter, Pat Metzgar, who tried her level best to help Paul Patton explain the rules on that 14th water hazard.

Whatever the rules are, the women will never like them on that hole. And the new rule about having the flag attended while putting develops some quirks the men probably never thought of. Like the question "What happens when you ask one of your foursome to tend the pin, and then when the ball comes up she just stands there waggling it because it's stuck. Are you penalized two strokes anyway, even if it's her fault?"

It was also a beautiful day at the river. One new rule I've discovered: It's a mistake to go home for supper. Like going back to bed once you're up, leaving it the second time is twice as hard. Especially last night when there must have been about 500 men sitting around outside John Lesoine's cottage. Well, it looked like 500 at the Consistory picnic or whatever it was and they hadn't even started to sing yet.

Role Of Housewife-Mother Presented As Challenge

Tannersville — Caryl Nidlund led the program, "She Shall Be Praised", at the May meeting of the Lutheran Church Women of St. Paul's Church. The program was presented in the form of a play, showing the life of one mother and the challenge that came to her.

A highpoint in the play was the word "housewife." This term, often used today, carries overtones of a downgrading role for which woman was created—motherhood. It seems to be the thought of many persons that there is something more important to do than to share with God the creation of a new life. And to share further with Him the molding and training of that life. "Housewife" has come to have a drab connotation. Actually the life of the housewife-mother holds in it as great a challenge as any career outside the home. Here is set the course of our struggle with the world. If this struggle is lost in the home, how can it be won away from the home?

Members of the play cast were Vera Walters, Cora Sebring, Patricia Brader, Marolyn Sebring, Annabelle Pecchatka and Nita Morris.

The responsive Scripture reading was led by Betty Woodling as was the offering prayer. Hymns were sung with Mary Jean Learn playing piano accompaniment.

Cora Sebring presided at the business session. Faith and Life chairman Evelyn Dodd reminded the members that LCW Week will be held at Muhlenberg College, Allentown, July 14 thru 17. A volunteer delegate is needed. Reservations must be in by June 15.

Betty Woodling, outreach and fellowship chairman, noted that June is thank-offering month. Members were urged to subscribe to "The National Lutheran" magazine. Persons desirous of subscribing should contact Marolyn Sebring or Cora Sebring.

Possibility of supporting a missionary was discussed and the matter was put into the hands of the executive committee.

Ruth Learn reported on the recent May fellowship dinner.

June 10 was set as church housecleaning day. Work will start at 9 a.m. Everyone is invited. Persons coming should bring cleaning equipment and their lunch.

Mrs. Adami, mother of Pastor Charles Adami, told of Seminary Day at the Philadelphia Seminary. She spoke of the Women's Auxiliary and how it helped to meet the needs of the young men enrolled there. Mrs. Adami stated that the auxiliary had recently aided in building maintenance and room improvement.

June 23 was annouced as the date of the next meeting. A program, "Woman To Woman", will be led by Ruth Learn. Hostesses will be Mildred Sandt, Sally Newhart and Donna Warner.

Twenty members and three guests were present.

Refreshments were served by the men of the church represented by Charles Besecker, Donald Rowe, Miles Smith and Vincent Marek.

Let's talk Fashion

Well—no, we haven't all been to the Fair, but a lot of our summer suits have, and they have acquitted themselves nobly, our customers report. They are just right especially the three piece numbers with the sleeless overblouses for those 7 a.m. starts when it's chilly and sort of damp. They feel cool and comfortable with the jackets off under the sun that can get mighty hot; or with them on when the breezes blow or the sun goes under. They go as serenely to dinner de luxe as on the cable car ride, and what's more they come home looking as crisp as when they started.

After all, they have their reputations to live up to, names like Carlyle, David Crystal, Harburt and Loomtog. And they boast some world-of-tomorrow fabrics in acetate and cotton seersuckers in plaids or stripes or dacron and cotton clear colors, or fabric that looks like linen but doesn't crush like it.

And what's more, they look gay enough for a fair, and can make an occasion of any day even for us stay-at-homes. Every summer deserves its own summer suit.

Yanks Win, 9-7; Colts Trim Mets

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Joe Pepitone and Roger Maris belted three-run homers Thursday, powering the New York Yankees to a 9-7 victory over Minnesota in a slugfest.

Pepitone's blast highlighted a four - run Yankee first inning, and Maris' shot got New York a 9-5 lead in the fourth.

Reliever Pete Mikkelsen held the Twins at bay the final 6 1-3 innings and gained credit for his fourth victory in five decisions. Jimmie Hall's solo homer in the fifth was the only blot on his performance.

The Yankees, gaining a 2-2 split in the series after dropping the first two games, routed Twins starter and loser Jim Perry with a six-run volley in the first two innings.

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Lillis and Eddie Kasko led a 15-hit Houston attack with four singles each Thursday in a 7-3 victory for the Colts over the New York Mets.

Houston left 14 men on base, and the Mets were guilty of four errors.

The Colts rapped loser Al Jackson for 14 hits in 6 2-3 innings. He was replaced by Tom Sturdigant.

Dick Farrell won his eighth against one defeat although he needed relief help from Don Larsen in the sixth. The victory tied Farrell with Juan Marichal of San Francisco as the top winner in the majors. Larsen pitched no-hit ball over the last 3 2-3 innings.

Robinson's Homer Smacks Reds, 6-3

MILWAUKEE (AP) -- Frank Robinson's three-run homer in the ninth inning, his second homer of the game, gave the Cincinnati Reds a 6-3 triumph over the Milwaukee Braves Thursday in a game highlighted by a Milwaukee triple play.

Robinson, who hit his first homer in the fourth, connected in the ninth after walks to Vada Pinson and pinch hitter Deron Johnson. The blow was off Bob Sadowski, who had just replaced Dan Schneider on the mound.

Jim O'Toole went all the way for the Reds, recording his fourth victory with a seven-hitter.

The triple play, third in the National League this season, occurred in the second inning. After Gordy Coleman and Robinson had drawn walks off Tony Cloninger, Leo Cardenas lined to Mike de la Hoz. The Milwaukee second baseman doubled Coleman off second by flipping to shortstop Denis Menke, whose relay to Gene Oliver at first base retired Robinson.

Pirates Win

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Rookie right - hander Steve Blass pitched a five-hitter Thursday night as the Pirates made four runs in the fourth inning stand up for a 4-2 victory over San Francisco.

Magee Leads Tourney

RYE, N. Y. (AP)—Jerry Magee, a little known Canadian who has been struggling to make expenses on the tour, outshot the game's greatest players with a six-under - par 66 Thursday for the first round lead in the $100,000 Thunderbird Golf Classic.

Jaunty Phil Rodgers and Ken Venturi forged 67s in a day of embarrassment for the Westchester Country Club's par 72 and were in second place—one stroke off the pace.

Defending champion Arnold Palmer made one of his familiar charges with a late birdie finish, but had to settle for a 68 and a tie for fourth with a half-dozen fellow pros.

Palmer's young rival for world golf honors, Jack Nicklaus, was one over on each of the two par five holes on the back line and ballooned to a 73. He was well back in the pack of the star-studded field of 125.

More than 40 players bettered the 36-36—72 par of the tight, 6,573-yard layout, soaked by a heavy overnight rain but whipped at times by winds up to 25 mies per hour.

There were five players at 69, eight at 70 and more than a dozen at 71, including Gary Player of South Africa, Bill Casper and Sam Snead.

Koufax 0-Hits Phils; Ties Feller's Record

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers pitched the third no-hitter of his major league career Thursday night, allowing only one walk in a 3-0 victory over Philadelphia and tying Bob Feller's modern no-hit record.

Koufax, the 28-year-old left-hander fireballer, faced the minimum 27 batters. Richie Allen was the lone baserunner, walking on a 3-2 pitch in the fourth but he was thrown out stealing.

While becoming only the second pitcher to pitch three no-hitters, all in post-1900 action, Koufax struck out 12 batters — hitting the 10 or more mark for the 54th time in his career and thus tying a career record in that department. Feller and Rube Waddell also did it 54 times.

Koufax was overpowering with his fast stuff and cut the corners brilliantly with his breaking stuff so well the only thing close to a hit was Allen's slow bouncer with two out in the seventh inning.

Jim Gilliam, playing third base, raced in for the ball, picked it up and fired, just in time to nip Allen at first.

Koufax was just as strong in the ninth as he was at the start. He struck out Tony Taylor, who led off the inning. Then Ruben Amaro lifted an easy pop foul that Ron Fairly caught about 20 feet behind first base.

Pinch hitter Bobby Wine was the last man between Koufax and his third no-hitter, and suddenly the unbearable tension grew even more so as play was halted when a foul tip hit umpire Ed Vargo.

Whiffs Wine

When play was resumed the count went to a ball and two strikes on Wine. Then Koufax struck him out.

Only four balls were hit out of the infield by the Phillies despite the fact Philadelphia Manager Gene Mauch started a predominantly right-handed hitting line-up against Koufax's southpaw slants. John Callison was the only lefty swinger in the batting order.

Callison flied out to Frank Howard in right field in the fourth, Gus Triandos lifted a fly to Willie Davis in center in the fifth, Cookie Rojas flied out to Tommy Davis in left in the seventh and Danny Cater lined out to Wes Parker in the eighth. Parker was a defensive replacement for Howard.

Howard Homers

Howard provided the runs Koufax needed when he hit his 14th homer of the season in the seventh inning off Chris Short following singles by Gilliam and Tommy Davis.

The victory for Koufax, who was sidelined earlier this season with a strained arm, was his sixth against four losses.

Koufax pitched his first no-hitter June 30, 1962, against the New York Mets, winning 5-0. No. 2 came on May 11, 1963, against San Francisco, Koufax winning 8-0.

Tebbetts Hopes For July Return

CLEVELAND (AP) — Birdie Tebbetts indicated Thursday he may be able to resume his duties as manager of the Cleveland Indians next month - and that would be just fine with General Manager Gabe Paul.

"I am pleased he is making such a wonderful recovery," Paul said, "but I wouldn't want him to return until he is released by his doctors as fully recovered."

Tebbetts, recovering at his home in Anna Maria, Fla., from a heart attack suffered April 1, said he had a favorable report from his doctor but that he may go to Rochester, Minn., for a checkup before returning to Cleveland.

No Target Date

Tebbetts said he expects to leave Florida July 1. However, Paul said there has been no target date set for his return as manager.

Tebbetts has been cheering from the sidelines, watching acting manager George Strickland juggle the line-up and pitching staff to keep the Indians in contention for first place since the season opened.

Tebbetts, 52, said he now walks two miles a day without tiring and is anxious o get back in uniform.

"I Love It"

"Baseball is my life and I love it," he said. 'When I'm away I feel like a father thinking about his son away at school.

'All I can do is look at the report card and hope for the best."

So far, the Indians have been getting passing marks. The Tribe led the American League until May 8, dropping to fifth place by May 29, and is now back to fourth.

Spahn Remembers Crandall For His 20-Game Seasons

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures

Warren Spahn, baseball's winningest southpaw, has had 10 different managers in the major leagues but the 43-year-old Milwaukee Brave has had many more catchers.

Spahnie had at least 10 catchers in Boston. He rattled off such names as Phil Masi, Bill Salkeld, Ernie Lombardi, Del Crandall, Walker Cooper, Ken O'Dea and Don Padgett.

Spahnie also mentioned Al Lopez, who managed the Chicago White Sox.

"Talking about catchers," Warren Spahn began, "everybody said Lopez was a great receiver. What did I know about pitching in 1942?"

Won 17 Games

In 1942 Spahn was only 21 but he had won 17 games for Hartford in the Eastern League and pitched 16 innings for Boston's Braves at the end of the season. Lopez was catching with Pittsburgh then.

"But of the catchers who caught me in Boston," Spahnie continued, "Masi was a good mechanical catcher. He could get from behind the plate faster than anybody I ever saw.

"Salkeld worked real hard and was a good receiver.

"Crandall sticks out because I pitched to him more than anybody else. He was a good receiver, still is. He worked hard with his pitcher. He was really conscientious about his pitcher.

"Some catchers concentrate more on their hitting than they do on their catching but not Crandall.

Now An Enemy

"Del's an enemy now. I shouldn't praise him. He's with San Francisco. But when he caught me it was a reciprocal thing. He helped me become a great pitcher and I helped him become a great catcher."

Crandall and Spahn formed a battery for 13 seasons and in 11 of them Spahn won 20 games or more. The pair might have been together 15 years but for Crandall's two seasons in the Army.

When Spahn pitched his first no-hitter — against the 1960 Phillies—he was 39 and Crandall then 30, was his catcher. Spahn fanned 15.

WARREN SPAHN, veteran southpaw of Milwaukee Braves, praises catcher Del Crandall who is "an enemy now." In 13 seasons with Crandall, Spahn won 11 of his 20-victory seasons.

Trim Ranch Style Home Sparkles With Look Of Success

Crisp Horizontal Lines Give Impression Of Youth

From its low and crisp horizontal lines to its imaginative room layout, today's House of the Week gives an impression of youth, freshness, and success.

At the same time there are enough traditional influences in the design to assure its popularity for years to come; in other words, to guarantee a good resale value.

Architect Lester Cohen produced the design, H-33 in the weekly series, after a study of the living patterns and needs of moderately successful young families. At 2,011 square feet it is comfortable, but not overly large. Its floor plan is interesting, but designed for easy housekeeping — without domestic help. The exterior has a definite look of quality, but the materials are of the low maintenance type.

The house contains three bedrooms, two and one-half baths, living room, dining room, kitchen with dinette space, foyer, family room, main level laundry and mud room, and an attached two-car garage.

It has a center hall plan with the living room stretching from the foyer to the rear terrace, and the kitchen located in front with the dinette overlooking the front portico.

The bedrooms are arranged nicely in a separate wing, with the children's bedrooms farthest removed from any living area noise. All the bedrooms have copious closet space and each is well ventilated. The master bedroom, in fact, has sliding glass doors opening onto a recessed section of the rear terrace, a delightful touch especially to be enjoyed on cool summer evenings and sunny Sunday mornings.

Over-all dimensions of the house are 92 feet wide by 37 feet four inches deep. A clean roof line emphasizes the long, low silhouette. Vertical siding on the portico contrasts pleasantly with the general horizontal lines of the house.

The living area of this home is, in Cohen's architectural eye, shaped like an H. The family room and living room form the vertical lines and the dining room is the connecting bar.

The shape follows a natural pattern, and the kitchen fits into it nicely as a housekeeping hub for the entire living area. A four-stool snack bar divides family room and kitchen, ideal for quick lunches and also a broad counter top for serving in the dining room.

Right off the kitchen is a main-level laundry with a mud closet. The side service entry is here, so are the basement stairs and an indoor entry to the garage.

Behind the laundry wall, in the family room, is a fireplace with a built-in indoor barbecue. An alcove for a hi-fi or TV also is in the family room.

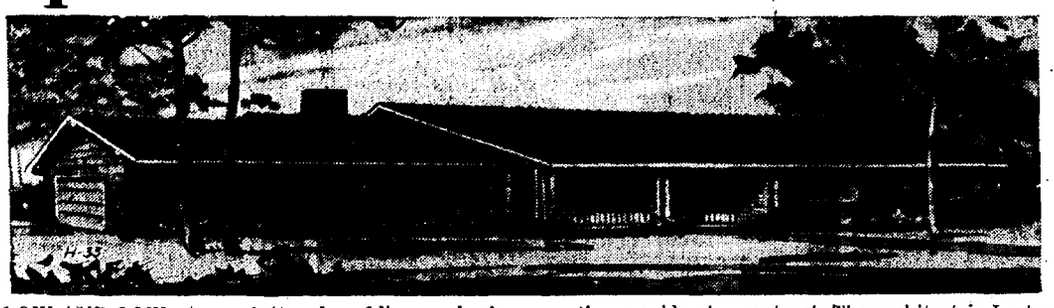
All the rooms across both the front and the rear of the house have broad expanses of glass. The kitchen and service area are especially bright; and the dining room and living room have sliding glass doors leading to the rear terrace.

The master bedroom, with its glass entry to the terrace, has a full bath attached. Its three closets are arranged to form a small dressing room, leaving the bedroom walls free of closet doors and thus more adaptable to furniture arranging.

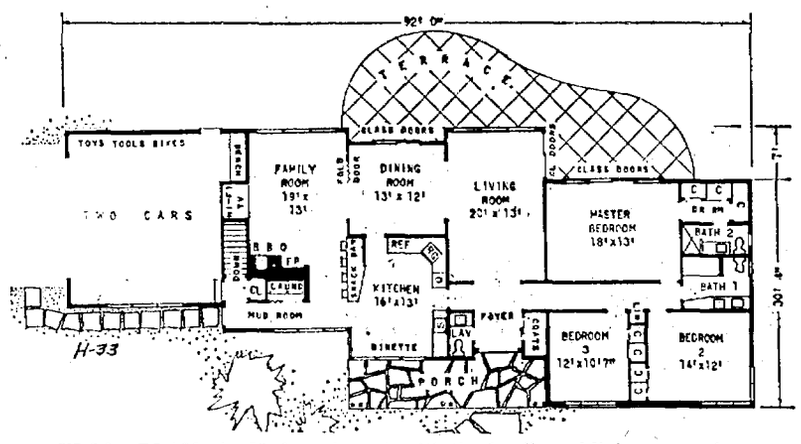
The main bathroom, back-to-back with the master bath for the sake of economy, is only a few steps from all the bedrooms and completely out of view from both the living and family rooms. The lavatory, or powder room, also is well located for daytime use from both the living room and kitchen.

H-33 STATISTICS

A three-bedroom ranch with living room, dining room, family room, foyer, two and one-half baths, main-level laundry, basement, double garage. Over-all dimensions are 92 feet wide by 37 feet four inches deep; total living area is 2,011 square feet.



LOW AND LOW: An uncluttered roof line emphasizes the horizontal silhouette of this tidy three-bedroom home. Native stone and vertical siding beneath the portico provide nice contrast. The architect is Lester Cohen.



FLOOR PLAN: An H-shape layout, with the family and living rooms forming the vertical lines and the dining room forming the connecting bar, produces a natural circulation pattern in the living area of this home. Total square footage is 2,011.

Here's The Answer

By Andy Lang

QUESTION: We're having our heating system renovated now so that it will be all set for the winter. We will be using a thermostat for the first time. Can you tell us which room it should be installed in?

ANSWER: Your heating dealer undoubtedly will make that decision, but you can discuss it with him if you have some knowledge of a few fundamentals. A thermostat should be placed in a room where the family spends much or most of its time, which is why it so often is installed in a living room.

There is an exception to that. If the living room has a fireplace which isn't just a decoration and which is actually used, locate the thermostat some place else. Otherwise, when the fireplace is being used, the thermostat will not go into action—and you may have one warm room and half a dozen cool rooms.

For the same reason, don't place the thermostat where it will be in the line of the sun's rays. Don't put it on an outside wall. Don't put it near a door. To sum it up, the thermostat should never be placed where it will be warmed more than the rest of the room or the rest of the house—nor should it be placed where it will be cooled more than the rest of the room or the rest of the house. You want it to reflect normal temperature conditions.

Up-Date Your Old Kitchen; Give Home That Fresh Look

Not many old-fashioned kitchens can stand up under a good hard look. Often they are unattractive and more hinderance than help in preparing meals.

Today's modern kitchens, on the other hand, are fun to be in, the place where the family's most enjoyable living occurs. If your kitchen isn't what you would like it to be, it probably isn't modern, and now is an excellent time to do something about it.

The most logical person to help you plan a remodeling job is your plumbing contractor advises the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau. He's a kitchen planning expert. He can oversee the entire remodeling job for you, saving you the headaches of dealing individually with electricians, plasterers, carpenters, tile setters and painters. He can arrange a payment plan, too that will let your family enjoy all the fun of a beautiful kitchen right now without putting a crimp in the budget.

Expert Help

You'll want his expert help in planning a kitchen layout that will result in the least time and energy on your part to prepare meals—appliances located to make a minimum of walking, lifting and carrying. The contractor will consider all points concerning your individual conveniences. For instance, if you are unusually tall or short, he can plan the countertops to be at the easiest height for you.

Whether you choose a U-shaped, L-shaped, corridor or straight-wall kitchen arrangement, the components should be placed in the best location for your particular needs. Details that might not occur to you are also your contractor's responsibility—being sure the refrigerator door opens toward a countertop and the sink—placing the sink between the refrigerator and the range for most efficient use.

He'll ask your preference in a single-bowl sink, a double or even the new triple-bowl variety. He might suggest that you choose a colored sink and match other appliances to it, planning your decor around that color. Or, you might prefer a stainless steel sink.

The contractor may suggest a refrigerator-freezer, a two-compartment unit or perhaps two combinations, one in the food preparation area and a smaller one in a dining area or at a bar. He'll ask you to choose between a countertop range and a free-standing one.

He can also help you plan the most efficient appliance center and see that the wiring is adequate for your coffee-maker, toaster, broiler, waffle iron and deep fryer. He will probably suggest that you have a planning desk if you have room, and will recommend a telephone extension for your use there.

Plan Kitchen

In planning your new kitchen, you can also makke plans to eliminate two irksome chores forever — doing dishes and emptying the garbage pail. Your plumbing contractor can show you a great selection of automatic dishwashers, suggesting the one best suited to your needs. Some are portable so that you can wheel them into the dining room for loading. Some can be built-in next to the kitchen sink, which provides continuous countertop space. Whether you choose this type or a free-standing model, let your contractor recommend where it should be located.

There are similarly many food waste disposers to choose from. Today's models are extremely quiet in operation and regarded by many housewives as the most highly prized item in the kitchen.

Along with assisting in the choice of appliances, your plumbing contractor can help you choose the type of storage space most efficient for you. Based on a minimum of six feet of shelf space for each member of your family, the storage space should include drawer space, door cabinets, sliding baskets and special cabinets for specific items.

Today's paints put color to work for you inexpensively, says the National Paint Varnish and Lacquer Association.

Vet Pen Argyl Councilman Scans 20 Years In Office

PEN ARGYL— William Hocking is a councilman in Pen Argyl who has served the borough in that capacity for more than 20 years. He has served two terms as president of the council, and from all indications is still going strong.

"I've seen many changes in the borough during my tenure in office. The most recent and probably the biggest is the installation of the sewer system," he said.

"When it was first brought up at council, and before the final vote was taken, there was much opposition to it. I felt at the time this was something the borough needed. I based my decision on the fact that I had been on council and knew of the many calls we had, and the problems of individual cesspools.

Problems like seepage, drainage and overflow of waste into the basements of homes.

"I realize that the passing of the sewage motion and the expense that came later created problems and hardships, particularly among the senior citizens in the borough. However, I now feel that most of them have changed their minds about the system and see its many advantages."

William Hocking

Hocking, when speaking of the fire department and the Blue Mountain Control Centre, had nothing but the highest praise for them.

Lauds Fire Department

"Our fire department is second to none. The men in it are volunteers, as they are in most communities, and they are dedicated people," he said.

"As for the control centre, I can't say enough about it and I'm not connected with it, other than as a councilman from one of the political subdivisions which participate in its operations.

"It (the control centre) is operated on a 24-hour basis and provides the residents of the Slate Belt area with many more services that I can tell. I can say this, the centre is operated most efficiently. When council receives a bill from the officers of the centre there is little or no questioning of it.

"If other bills to council were presented as those from the centre we could almost adjourn by 9:30 p.m. As you can see I'm a very big booster for the centre. One of the reasons for that is that I'm so convinced and so well informed of its operations."

Looking back over his terms in office, he smiled and said, "I don't know if you consider this important, but I was on council when the baseball field at Weona Park was built. It was used by the high school, and many others, during the years past."

Then, with another smile, he returned to present council saying, "Something that council will have to face in the not too distant future is the hiring of a full-time secretary. Now don't misunderstand me, the one we have now is a very capable man and he does a good job.

"However, with the installation of the sewer and all the work that is entailed by it — bookkeeping, billing and the like — the borough almost has to have a fulltime person in that office.

"Another reason is that there are many inquiries from people with regards to streets. Council is well aware of the conditions of the streets and there is a plan to get them in good repair. But like many other things this costs money — taxpayers' money.

"From what I know of the program the streets will be repaired as money is made available to council and its street committee."

Hocking is chairman of the sidewalk and curb committee and serves on the sewer and financial committees. He favors any move to bring industry into the borough and is proud to say that the borough is in good financial standing and without any debts.

Mrs. Jensen Named To Planning Unit

STROUDSBURG — Mrs. Zella Jensen was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Charles Bensinger on the Stroud Twp. Planning Commission last night.

Stroud Twp. supervisors accepted Bensinger's resignation at a meeting in the Municipal Building.

In other business, the supervisors approved an exoneration list which would allow certain indigent persons leeway on payment of various taxes. This list included persons who are on relief and have moved out of the area.

The supervisors also voted to approve plans which have been submitted by the Stroud Twp. Planning Commission.

It was announced that the supervisors would survey the area township traffic signs and see if they are in line with the new state standards. Signs that do not meet the new requirements will be replaced. The program will comply with Governor Scranton's new traffic sign safety program which will be completed throughout the state by January 1, 1967.

Police Chief H. W. Tebbs reported seven arrests for traffic violations in May; five motor vehicle accident investigations; collection of $102 in fines for the township, and investigation of five burglar alarms. All of the five alarms were false. Three were at the Sherwin Mfg. plant and two at the Oil Jack Mfg. Company.

He also investigated the equipment theft at Rinehart's garage on West Main Street in Stroudsburg, and complaints of shooteing on Reservoir Hill. His report also noted that he and Les Rice, assistant Stroud Twp. chief of police attended a State Police briefing in Hazelton.

The fire report, from Chief Lester Rice, noted a total of eight fire calls answered. Five brush and grass fires were extinguished; two gondola cars loaded with railroad ties, and a garage fire were extinguished.

A total of 37 trucks and 340 men answered calls during the month of May.

S-Burg Council To Urge Tocks Support In House

STROUDSBURG — Stroudsburg Mayor Joseph Small Wednesday night requested council to urge a U.S. House Committee hearing, on June 8 and 9, to create a national recreational area around the proposed Tocks Island Dam.

Council granted the request and told Harold Snyder, borough manager, to write a letter to the committee in Washington, D.C. stating "that Stroudsburg Borough Council approves the creation of a national recreational area around the proposed dam."

Small also requested council to inspect the parking situation and signs at the corner of Wayne and Hamilton Streets.

County Treasurer

"Warren Loney asked me to have this situation investigated. He cannot park his car near his home. He is the only resident in the area that it affects. Loney would like, if possible, to have a two - hour parking sign erected on one of the two streets," Small said.

Council told Small that the complaint would be investigated and corrected, if at all possible, before the July meeting.

Small then asked council how much authority he had in the preparations for the sesquecentennial of the borough. Council told him he had "carte blanche" authority.

Nelson Lightner, Stroudsburg fire chief, told council there were nine fires during May. He listed them as four automobiles, three trash, one woodpile and one tree.

John Tretheway, Stroudsburg police chief, told council there were 197 arrests made during May and $463 in fines were collected for the borough.

He said the police car travels 3,474 miles during the month and that 84 lodgers were accommodated in the borough lockup. He reported 14 automobile accidents were investigated in the borough.

Cy Barrett Says

Lazy Rights

By Cyrus Barrett, Jr.

DEAR CY:

We had a local election and you should hear the griping about its outcome! One businessman told a youth group: "Election of this candidate has set the community back 20 years and will choke enterprise." Not until the ballots were counted did anyone get up in arms. Then the uproar was deafening. I say these do-nothings have no right to gripe about political and civic happenings if they don't take part. Let's hear from you, Cy.

TIRED LISTENER

DEAR TIRED LISTENER:

A new Community Safety building . . . combining fire and police departments . . . began to distort the silhouette of a certain American community last month. Local citizens were aghast when it appeared to be in the most advanced traditions of the 22d century. The acrid air was rent by remarks such as: "Not in keeping with the architecture of the town . . . "A building we can well be ashamed of."

One resident who took part in the design selection asked a complainer: "If you don't like the way things are handled in this town, why don't you get involved yourself?" The reply should be taped and placed in the building's cornerstone to record our indifferent national attitude: "I figure with so many smart people in this community, I could relax." One of our democratic rights is the right to be lazy. The privilege is protected only through vigilance and participation in civic and political issues. Not by being slothful!

CY

DEAR CY:

You quoted a Mr. James Barrett of Junior Achievement, Inc., as saying, "We have not scratched the surface." Junior Achievement has always interested me as a force for bringing understanding to high school youngsters. What does Mr. Barrett mean by his statement?

A. COTTSWOOD

DEAR MR. COTTSWOOD:

James Barrett, national public relations director for Junior Achievement, answers your question this way: "We have the largest enrollment in history . . . 105,000 teenagers. Our organization finds it necessary to turn down twice as many young people as we are willing to accept. This occurs with a minimum of recruiting. In 1943, there were 108 Junior Achievement companies owned and operated by teenagers. Today there are 5,000."

CY

DEAR CY:

Any advice for starting a legitimate sitter service? I have tried numerous businesses (always making money) and feel there is a need for trained sitters, who will sit with old people as well as children. I am looking for an area of hot opportunity.

NIMBLE TRIMBLE

DEAR TRIMBLE:

A lot of protesting screams leap from envelopes on my desk. So far they have referred to almost every financial ruse known to man — but not sitting. The fast buck operators (which may include you) usually prefer gambits which provide more money and mobility. If you have any nefarious ideas regarding this worthy service, lose yourself.

To get an idea of sitter service operation and how to train sitters to be expert in the required skills, you may want to send for "Baby Sitters" by H. F. Southard (YWCA Bureau of Communications, 600 Lexington Ave., New York, 35 cents.) It has a list of booklets, films, guides, and manuals on the subject. Requirements to start a sitter service include an area not clogged with competitors, a card file, a telephone, classified newspaper ads, and a place to interview (and train) sitters. Be sure to check local authorities on any licensing requirements or zoning regulations affecting your sitter business.

Washington Report

'Fillibuster' Dirty Word To Most U. S. Senators

Tuesday, June 9 may go down in Senate history as the end of the fillibuster that wasn't. Senator Hubert H. Humphrey (D Minn.), floor leader for the civil rights bill, on June 2 said odds for cloture were now "a shade on our side."

Now fillibuster by custom and ancient convenant is supposed to be a dirty word on the Senate floor. If you are conducting a fillbuster and don't like to admit it, the form is to refer to your activity as an "educational campaign." Only this time the latter term is accurate and apt. Both proponents and opponents of the civil rights bill have been conducting an educational campaign.

Quite a number of characteristics of the true fillibuster have been missing from the Senate's civil rights debate. There has been no attempt to force round-the-clock sessions. During the first week of the debate, for example, the Senate met at noon, so that committees could continue to hold morning meetings. Recess hours ranged from 5:30 to 8:30. Sessions eventually stretched out, but not to the extend of physical danger.

No cots have been required, nor has emergency sustenance. For the most part the debate has been serious, well tempered, and germane — as for that matter have been fillibusters in recent years. There have been no long - winded irrelevancies nor publicity stunts. And the leadership has refrained from pushing the opposition to the point of physical exhaustion.

The White House has exerted little public or private pressure. President Johnson had to say he wanted the bill exactly as passed by the House, but when the time came to accept compromise, June 2, he said that he believed the Senate would "pass a good bill."

Senate Southerners knew from the start that a civil rights bill was inevitable in this election year—as it will be even if this attempt to cloture should fail. They have been given their opportunity to go on record graciously, and they have accepted it with good sense. There has been a rare modicum of parliamentary trickery.

Since Rule 22 was adopted in 1917, there have been 28 cloture votes. Only five succeeded: Versailles Treaty, 1919; World Court, 1926; branch banking, 1927; prohibition reorganization, 1927; and communications satellite, 1962. Of the 28 votes, 11 dealt with civil rights. All of these occurred after 1937 and none was successful.

That a long debate on the civil rights bill was unavoidable became evident when the Senate on March 26 voted, 50-34, to table a motion by Sen. Wayne Morse (D Ore.) that the bill be referred to the Judiciary Committee. Morse had wanted the committee to write an instructive legislative history for the bill in anticipation of the spate of legislation it is bound to engender.

Production To Benefit Church Organ

CANADENSIS — Renovation of the Canadensis Methodist Church organ will be affected from the proceeds of the Bishop's Company production of "St. Joan" on Saturday, June 27 in the church sanctuary at 8:30 a.m.

The play, written by George Bernard Shaw, tells the story of the teen-age girl who saved France through her burning faith. The players are members of the 12-year-old reportory company established in Burbank, Calif.

Mrs. C. Brook Weiss, chairman, announced that tickets will be sold on a donation basis at the door the night of the performance or may be purchased from ticket chairman, Edward Bellhorn.

At a recent meeting of the committee, Miss Yvonne Noel assumed the responsibility of arranging for ushers for the performance. Miss Noel, also representing the Wesleyan Service Guild, said the group would serve refreshments to the audience in the social rooms following the performance.

Mrs. E. Bellhorn said all typing for the programs was to be completed by June 4, at which time sponsors and patron names would be turned in by Dwight Shaw, William Bowes and Rev. Vernon Murray, pastor. Abe Wilkinson, treasurer, will handle the funds and arrange for payment of having the organ renovated.

Mrs. Donald Russell and Mrs. George Seese are in charge of publicity for the event. Housing for the players is being arranged by Mrs. Reeve Price.

Bangor High Student Gets Scholarship

BANGOR — Marilyn Butz, R.D. 2, Bangor, is one of two recipients of the nursing scholarships this year awarded by Lehigh Valley Heart Association. Each is for $350 and payable over a three-year period to the nursing school of the student's choice.

Miss Butz will take her training at the Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia.

A senior at the Bangor Area Joint High School, she is a member of the National Honor Society, Tri-Hi-Y (program chairman), staff of the Yearbook, majorette, on the girls' basketball and gym teams and Junior German Club.

"I enjoy being in contact with people, especially children. Since I have worked as a swimming instructor and a babysitter, I have shared many interesting and rewarding experiences. I find satisfaction in being able to do things which bring comfort and air to persons who are ill," Miss Butz wrote in the required essay that accompanied her application.

The other scholarship was awarded to Carol Lee Knecht of Nazareth Area High School. She will attend Temple University Hospital. Mr. Sinclair Chiles is chairman of the Nursing Scholarship Committee.

Both will receive their awards at the first awards meeting of the Lehigh Valley Heart Association. It will be held next Wednesday, June 10, at the Allentown Jewish Community Center, Allentown, at 8 p.m.

Retired Army Sergeant Praises Service Career

TOBYHANNA — A sergeant first class, who retired this week at age 43 at the Tobyhanna Army Depot after 20 years' military service, would recommend the Army as a "fine career for any young man."

SFC Joseph S. Sgro, the retiree, said, "The Army has been very good to me and my family. I would do it all over again if I could."

His wife, the former Marilyn Berger of Altoona, agreed. "It was a wonderful experience for me and the children to live in so many foreign countries," she said.

The Sgros have three children, Marlene, 12, Rosemary, 10, and Joseph, 9.

Following World War II, during which he served with the combat engineers in Iceland and Europe, Sergeant Sgro was allowed to have his family near him while serving in France, Germany, Belgium, Holland and Italy.

"Although we hardly mastered all those different languages," Mrs. Sgro said, "we enjoyed seeing the sights and meeting so many very nice people."

The Sgros, who live on Prospect St., Tobyhanna, plan to continue living in this area for the present.

"If a good job materializes, we'll stay forever," Sergeant Sgro said.

At the retirement ceremony, Tobyhanna Army Depot Commander Col. M. J. Reichel congratulated Sergeant Sgro after presenting him with a Certificate of Retirement and a letter from General Earle G. Wheeler, U.S. Army Chief of Staff.

The letter from General Wheeler reads in part: "My personal thanks and sincere appreciation of the U.S. Army for the many years of outstanding service which you have given to our country. You have helped to maintain the security of this nation during a most critical period in its history with a devotion to duty and a spirit of sacrifice in keeping with the proud traditions of the military service."

Volcano Rumbles Space Garden

CATANIA, Sicily (AP)— Heavy clouds of black smoke started pouring from the two-mile-high central crater of Mt. Ena as Europe's tallest volcano rumbled back into activity Thursday after two weeks of relative quiet. Explosions every three to five seconds hurled volcanic ash into the air but no new lava flow was reported.

When man began draining the region of the Everglades to create farm land for lumber, cattle and crops he dealt a serious blow to the birds and animals who needed the water.

Roads Unit Hearing At Hazleton

HAZLETON — The Pennsylvania Highway Commission, recently formed by legislature, will hold a public hearing Friday, June 12, in Gennetti's Motel in Hazleton.

The hearing will afford the general public in northeastern Pennsylvania to express their opinions on highway construction in that section of the state.

The commission has held two public hearings and will hold three more, in various sections of the state, before July 1, 1964.

The commission was formed to discuss and develop a six year highway construction program in the state. The findings will be based on the public's priority of needs, and the needs are expected to be shown at the public hearings.

Members of the commission are Henry D. Harral, secretary of highways; Sen. George N. Wade, chairman of the State Senate highway committee; Rep. Ralph Down, chairman of the House of Representative's highway committee; Louis G. Fellmann, Harold Reslink, Henry Huth, and Roy E. Furmon.

33 On Relief Rolls Pass Job Tests

STROUDSBURG. — Secretary of Public Welfare Arlin M. Adams said yesterday that 33 persons on public assistance successfully passed civil service examinations for attendant jobs at White Haven State School and Hospital, Luzerne County, and 10 of these have already been employed there.

Secretary Adams recently urged able-bodied public assistance recipients to seek employment at State institutions where job vacancies exist.

The White Haven State School and Hospital, an institution for the mentally retarded, is being expanded with the opening of new facilities and a series of civil service examinations is being given there for attendants.

"We shall not be satisfied," Secretary Adams said, "until every adult who is physically able to do so, has a job and is supporting himself and his family. To be satisfied with anything less would be unfair to both the individual on public assistance and to the taxpayer who is financing the program to support those who cannot work.

"We are cooperating very closely with other departments and agencies in our state-wide effort to reach this objective. Our county boards of assistance are getting splendid results in finding work for persons on public assistance," Secretary Adams added.

On Apr. 7, when the first of a series of examinations was given, 13 public assistance recipients applied and 10 of them were eventually qualified and employed.

On May 6, tests were given to 27 more recipients, resulting in 23 being placed on the list for potential employment as attendants.

County Boards of Assistance throughout the State will be notified og future testing programs, held in coperation with the State Civil Service Commission, so that public assistance recipients can apply.

'Paupack High School Commencement June 12

HAWLEY — The commencement exercises of the Wallenpaupack Area Joint High School, Hawley, will be held on June 12, at 8 p.m. in the auditorium.

Four members of the Senior Class, Joan Arter, Richard Wallat, Michael Smith, and Shirley Smith, will speak to the class concerning future responsibilities.

The theme, "Our Responsibilities — to ourselves, our homes, our community, and mankind," reflects their awareness of these issues.

John C. Villaume, president of International Correspondence Schools, will be the guest speaker. Villaume graduated from Honesdale High School and holds the degrees of A.B. from Gettysburg College and M.A. from Duke University.

During World War II, as a captain he served as Classification and Personnel Officer with the Adjutant General's Office. He also acted as Educational Liaison Officer for the Army Specialized Training Program at Drexel Institute of Technology.

Shortly after, Villaume joined the staff of International Correspondence Schools, a division of International Textbook Company, where he served successively as Assistant Director of the High School Department, Dean of the Schools of Business, Director of Service Department, and Assistant Dean of the Faculty.

In April, 1956, he was designated Executive Vice - President of ICS. In April, 1958, he was elected a Vice - President of International Textbook Company, the parent organization. In 1959, Mr. Villaume became President of ICS. In 1960, he was elected Director of ITC and in 1961, was elected a Director of ICS World Limited.

Villaume's educational experience includes teaching and directing public relations at Gettysburg College. He has also been associated with the University of Scranton for five years teaching business management, personnel, office, and industrial management, and public relations. He is author of a text, "Personnel Organizations."

Villaume is a director of the Scranton Business Bureau and the Scranton Chamber of Commerce. He is a member of the American Management Association and the American Society of Training Directors; vice president of the Scranton Rotary Club; a member of the Advisory Board of Pennsylvania State University, Scranton Branch.

The commencement program will also feature musical selection by a high school instrumental group and a senior group under the direction of John Strupcewski.

The invocation and benediction will be given by The Reverend Robert W. L. Mark of The First Presbyterian Church of Hawley.

Attendance at the commencement will be by ticket only.
